Rebels Repel Mercenaries At Albertville

Withering Blasts Of Machine Guns Hold Off Whites

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — White mercenary soldiers, attacking the rebel held city of Albertville on Lake Tanganyika, have been driven back by concentrated machine gun fire after penetrating almost to Albertville Airport, reliable sources in Leopoldville said Friday.

It was the first time mercenary soldiers hired by Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe had gone into action on the ground against Communist-backed rebels in the eastern Congo.

The informants said the battle took place Thursday. At that time, the Congolese government in Leopoldville claimed government soldiers held most of Albertville.

200 IN COUNTRY

The Congolese government has denied hiring mercenaries, although reliable reports said at least 200 are in the country. They have been recruited in Europe and in South Africa and the Rhodesias. A plane load of 70 flew Thursday from the Southern Rhodesian capital of Salisbury to a base at Kamina in North Katanga.

Informants said a mercenary group of about 20 men was acting as the spearhead of an advance from the town of Baudouville, to the south of Albertville. Baudouville was recaptured by the government recently after being pillaged and burned by rebels.

The sources said the government's plan of attack included another simultaneous assault from the lake by a group of mercenaries in motor boats, but they were unable to get as far as Albertville.

The landbound mercenary group was leading a contingent of Congolese soldiers close to Albertville airport when they came under withering machine-gun fire, the informants said.

The attacking column then retreated about 50 miles, to the village of Kaponia. It was not known whether the mercenary force suffered any casualties.

Recent messages from the 130 Europeans still in Albertville spoke of "catastrophic" conditions there and a complete breakdown of law and order following departure of rebel leader Gason Soumailot. The messages said Albertville was in the hands of drunken teenage warriors who were looting and killing without restraint.

'Nimbus' Sails Through Space To Hunt Storms

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The nation's newest and biggest storm-hunter satellite, the 10-foot-tall Nimbus, shot into space Friday and started televising cloud pictures officials called "excellent."

First pictures received at ground tracking stations were of the Gulf of Mexico and parts of Florida and Louisiana.

With its cameras constantly aimed at earth, Nimbus is designed to take more than 2,000 pictures every 24 hours, providing history's first 24-hour watch on the world's weather. Earlier Tiros weather satellites spin in space and thus miss up to 80 per cent of the earth's surface in a 24-hour period.

The 830-pound spacecraft roared aloft at 1 a.m. atop a 91-foot Thor-Agena booster rocket. Premature cutoff of the second firing of the Agena stage was blamed for sending it into an oval orbit ranging from 262 to 378 miles high rather than the planned 375-mile-high orbit.

Reds Continue Firing Satellites

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union continued its barrage of satellite launchings Friday, hoisting Cosmos 44 into orbit, Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced a successful firing.

It is the eighth in the Cosmos series to be launched in two weeks.

Turkish Soldiers, Students March On U.S., Greeks

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish soldiers and officers joined students Friday in a riotous two hour march through Ankara streets, shouting anti-American slogans and breaking windows of the Greek Embassy.

The United States also came in for attack in Nicosia, Cyprus, where Greek Cypriots in an orderly demonstration accused America and Britain of supporting Turkish demands for the partition of Cyprus. Cypriots shouted "Mar-karios, Khrushchev, Nasser" and carried placards saying "shame on Anglo-American imperialist murderers."

It was the second straight day that Ankara crowds assailed the United States. The Turks have been aroused by newspaper stories saying the United States is trying to force Turkey to accept a solution providing for union of Cyprus with Greece.

The Nicosia rally preceded the departure of President Makarios for Alexandria and talks with Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who has offered arms to Cyprus.

Greek Ambassador Antonis Pombouras submitted the postponement request, made public by Turkish Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkin.

It was reported in Nicosia that unless the rotation is postponed, a troopship would sail Saturday night from the Turkish embarkation port of Iskenderun with 335 soldiers aboard, including 61 officers.

The contingent, the reports said, would land at the west coast port of Famagusta without arms. The Turkish soldiers they are replacing will leave their arms behind in barracks north of Nicosia and go by bus to the port.

PARISH SCHOOL BOARD

Second Primary Election Today

By RICHARD TYLER
World Staff Writer

A total of 10,753 Democrats are registered to go to the polls today in the party's second primary for four seats on the Ouachita Parish School Board.

With no Republican opposition filed, outright choices will be determined today in wards four, six and seven. The ward 10 victor, however, will join first primary Democratic winner H. W. Tolson in the Nov. 3 general election against Mrs. George Snellings Jr., a Republican.

Facing one another today in ward 10, where 9,511 voters are qualified, are Milton Ford and Fred Henry. One of them will earn the general election berth for the two ward seats available.

Group Returns

The study tour group of Northeast State College returned Friday night after three weeks of travels along the East Coast, Canada and other northern points of interest. The highlight of their tour was a stopoff at the New York World's Fair. The group reports they had a "wonderful time," but they seemed glad to be back with their families.

Turnouts Elate

Ouachita Parish school officials are elated with the turnouts this week at their pre-school work conferences. Supt. Milton Hall in fact, estimates attendance at 90 to 95 per cent of the parish's more than 600 teachers.

Attendance was non-compulsory. White teachers met Monday and Tuesday. The same program was conducted Wednesday and Thursday for Negro teachers.

Sleeping Sickness Unconfined To Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Sleeping sickness, or viral encephalitis, which has posed an epidemic threat in Houston, Tex., could appear in outbreaks elsewhere, the American Medical Association said Friday.

Confirmed cases of the disease have been reported in Florida as well as Texas. In Illinois and Arizona, suspected cases are under investigation.

Dr. Raymond L. White, AMA director of environmental medicine and medical services, said Friday that insect-borne encephalitis is, strictly speaking, a disease of birds and small animals rather than of man.

"Its transmission to man is, in a sense, an accident," Dr. White said, because the insects which nip at infected animals generally have no taste for man. But they make mistakes and sometimes bite or sting humans.

Accident or not, encephalitis is serious. The reaction is often severe. Fatalities can range from 2 to 75 per cent, depending on the strain of the disease. Some victims are left paralyzed, enfeebled, or mentally affected.

Goldwater Terms LBJ Isolationist

GOP Candidate Says Talk Failed To Inspire World

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused President Johnson of isolationist talk and "a clear withdrawal from leadership in international affairs."

The vacationing Republican nominee for the White House gave that assessment Friday of Johnson's acceptance Thursday night of the Democratic presidential nomination.

"The eyes and ears of the entire world were turned to that acceptance speech, looking and listening for the vision and strength that would once again put America on the high road of world leadership," Goldwater said.

INWARD VISION

"Instead, the world witnessed a vision turned inward, isolated and sighted only toward domestic political advantage."

Press Secretary Paul F. Wagner told newsmen of Goldwater's reaction to the President's words. The Arizona senator was cruising California's coastal waters near Santa Cruz Island, off Santa Barbara.

Wagner said Goldwater did not hear broadcasts of the Johnson address in Atlantic City, N.J. The press secretary said he read to Goldwater sections of the text and summarized the rest of the speech in a ship-to-shore telephone conversation.

Goldwater and his wife are aboard the borrowed yacht Sundance on what the senator says will be his last vacation before the presidential election.

Lyndon Johnson's acceptance speech was a clear withdrawal from leadership in international affairs," Goldwater said in a statement distributed by Wagner. "It was perhaps the most isolationist acceptance speech in modern American history."

"Not once did it mention directly the challenge of communism or the many brush fire conflicts that communism has ignited around the world."

"Not once did it go to the heart of the problems that are splitting our alliances apart, splitting the world apart, and putting this nation, every day, on the brink of crisis."

3 Meat Firms Deny Signing NFO Contracts

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Three Midwest meat packing companies strongly denied Friday having signed price-production contracts with the National Farmers Organization, whose members are engaged in a livestock market boycott.

The Iowa president of the NFO, Earl Riediger of Hinton, said Thursday night that the three processors — Swift & Co., Cudahy Packing Co. and Duquesne Packing Co. — either had signed contracts or were co-operating with the NFO on an experimental basis.

"We unequivocally deny having signed any kind of an agreement or contract with any NFO official, local, national or otherwise, in any plant at any location in the United States," said T. W. Glaze, director of public relations for Swift in Chicago.

Area Weather To Stay Warm

The weatherman promises pleasant weather this weekend for the Twin Cities and area. Skies will be partly cloudy and temperatures will continue to be warm.

Thundershowers will be isolated and confined mostly to the afternoon and evening. Highest readings today will be 90-95 in the afternoon with lows tonight of 69-74.

Friday's warmest reading was 93. The early morning low was 68. No rainfall was reported for the day.

Winds today will be gentle and variable, 5-15 miles per hour.

Riot-Struck Viet Nam Names New Leader

Troops Halt Mob Action In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Nguyen Xuan Oanh, former vice premier for economic affairs, took over Saturday as acting premier as steel helmeted troops brought Saigon back from the verge of civil war.

The announcement came a few hours after troops in battle gear cracked down on rowdy mobs that had practically taken over South Viet Nam's capital in two days of rioting and bloodshed.

TERMS LENGTH

Speaking at a news conference, Oanh said he would head the caretaker government for the next two months.

Oanh has spent several years in the United States, speaks English fluently and is considered Western-oriented.

A government spokesman said Friday night a military-civilian "committee of unification" would replace the dissolved ruling revolutionary council, comprising the country's three top generals and representatives of the Buddhists, Catholics and possibly students.

Buddhists and Roman Catholics have been fighting each other and the students have been rioting against the government in disorders that left at least nine dead and scores wounded.

But the government scheduled a news conference for noon at which it was expected it would announce the military triumvirate would be retained in power for the next 60 days.

It was also expected, however, that Nguyen Xuan Oanh, vice premier for economic affairs under strongman Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh would be named acting prime minister.

The three generals are Khanh, Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh and Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Kham.

The soldiers swept aside makeshift barriers thrown across main streets by the demonstrators Thursday and Friday and set up barbed wire barricades of their own.

"From now on law and order will be enforced," a security officer said.

But a Communist Viet Cong broadcast called on the people in Saigon to rise in revolt, and some reported to be students from Communist territory were reported marching on the capital.

The main flash points of violence scattered around the city and its suburbs were under army control with barbed wire barricades blocking the approaches and trucks standing by.

Mobile radio equipped units of paratroopers and steel helmeted troops with fixed bayonets raced around the city, pouncing on random knots of demonstrators, piling them into trucks and driving them away.

Five hundred demonstrators were arrested during the night and police said 150 of them had past criminal records. At least 15 were being held as Communist suspects.

Preparations will be made for formation of a popularly elected constituent assembly and organization of a new government.

McKEITHEN DELAYS NOD

Ellender 'Bound' To Vote For LBJ

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

U.S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender said Friday he was bound to vote for President Johnson, but Gov. John J. McKeithen refused to endorse Johnson or Republican Barry Goldwater.

But Ellender said he wouldn't be surprised if Goldwater received 75 to 80 per cent of the votes in the Fifth District where the senior senator has been making the rounds for the past few days.

"At the present time Johnson is far behind in Louisiana," McKeithen said.

EXPRESS VIEWS

McKeithen preceded Ellender on the program of the Fourth Annual Cotton Forum conducted at the Virginia Hotel, where they expressed their political views in interviews.

"I'm not going to do anything to influence the people, one way or another," Ellender said. "But I'm bound, in my judgment, to vote for the Democratic nominee."

The 73-year-old Democrat, who has been in office for 28 years, pointed out that the South held 11 of 16 chairmanships in the Senate, adding, "We are in a better position to protect the South by remaining in the chairmanships."

He said if he supported Goldwater and Johnson won, more than likely "the next move would be to reorganize the Senate by the liberals and throw us all out."

"I don't want to do anything to affect my present position," Ellender stated.

McKeithen, meantime, said again he planned to announce his position in the campaign "in the very near future," but explained that he wanted to "see some of the statements by the candidates about a number of issues vital to Louisiana."

"I think I indicated my disapproval of actions and words of some of the parties and the people representing them, which probably doesn't leave much conjecture left about my feelings," the governor added.

But he said he wasn't sorry he didn't go to the National Democratic Convention.

When asked if his statements meant he was leaning toward Goldwater, McKeithen replied, "That's all I've got to say."

But he said his son, Fox, came home from the convention "a rabid, states right Democrat."

Ellender pointed out he didn't attend the convention because, "I knew what was going to happen."

"It was so one-sided," said the senator.

Ellender, who serves as chairman of the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry, said he found strong sentiment for Goldwater in the Fifth District, but he declined to predict the outcome of the race in Louisiana.

"Sen. Goldwater is in the lead," said McKeithen.

"It depends on what Goldwater does and says," Ellender explained. "He makes half-cocked statements. If he continues to advocate the discontinuance of Social Security, he'll lose a lot of votes."

Ellender also said he disagreed with Goldwater on the Viet Nam problem, saying, "If I am to judge, Goldwater would send troops into Viet Nam. I'm against that. I would withdraw the troops. It could become a second Korean War."

"I would withdraw the troops unless our rich allies came in and helped," he added. "The same applies to the Congo. We're trying to protect the whole world while the interest alone on our debt is reaching $11-billion. If we don't mind out, we might bring 'isms' to our shores."

Facing re-election in 1966, Ellender said he was running.

TRAIN LURCHES FORWARD

Boy, 7, Loses Arms Trying To Save Pup

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 7-year-old boy lost both arms below the elbows Friday when he tried to coax a puppy from beneath a stopped train and the train lurched forward.

The boy, James (Bucky) Welch, was reported in satisfactory condition. Tissue damage was too extensive to sew the arms back, a doctor said. The arms were severed about three inches below the elbows.

Bucky, his brother, Hiram, 5, and four cousins were on their way to a swimming pool near their home in the West End. A freight train had stopped on tracks that intersect the alley where they were traveling — so they hopped over a coupling between two cars, according to one of the cousins, Maurice, 9.

All the children made it to the other side but the 3-month-old puppy, belonging to the cousins, sat down on the ties.

"Here, Smokey," Bucky called to the dog, reaching out. Then the train started.

Police estimated the train dragged the boy about 86 feet before he was thrown to the side. Bucky got up and walked to a nearby drive-in restaurant.

Bucky's mother, Rosie Lee Car, was treated for shock.

Bucky has 11 brothers and sisters and they live with the mother and stepfather above a grocery store.

Smokey, the puppy, was not hurt. He returned to the cousins' home police said.

Mr. Editor... Tell Me, Please

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in the column.

How does the amount of money spent in Mississippi by the federal government in connection with the murder of Medgar Evers, the search for the three civil rights workers and the Meredith case at the University of Mississippi compare with amounts spent in investigation of the cause of riots and apprehension of those responsible for deaths and injuries to persons in New York, Boston, Chicago and New Jersey?

Our bureau in Washington, D. C., said that the Justice Department has no totals available on costs of these investigations. Obviously, probes in the South have cost far more.

Justice Department officials, our Washington reporter said, say they are "greatly limited" in northern riots because there is no apparent violation of federal law.

On what day of week did the following dates fall: Aug. 2, 1896? May 11, 1903? Dec. 8, 1914?

Aug. 2, 1896, was on Sunday. May 11, 1903, was on Monday. Dec. 8, 1914, was on Tuesday.

If you are aware of gambling in a small town and local enforcement agencies won't do anything about it, where can you get outside help?

If you have been refused any assistance by both municipal and parish officers (the sheriff) then you should present any evidence you might have to the governor's office for referral to the state police. It would then be up to the state to decide whether not to step in or to let "home rule" be the guide.

Is the Monroe City School Board going to initiate a special program for the retarded in September? If so, at what schools?

Yes, answers Supt. Van D Odom, a special program will begin this fall. Classes will be held at Jefferson Junior High School and for the lower grades at Minnie Ruffin Elementary School.

Is the Monroe City School Board preferentially hiring teachers with masters or advanced degrees?

Supt. Van D Odom stated that the school board always attempted to get the best-qualified teacher possible. "If everything else is equal," he said, "we take the teacher with the best educational background, experience and training."

What is the salary and office expense of the Caldwell Parish tax assessor under the new state law? Will Caldwell Parish pay for the new rate?

According to Assessor Edgar W. Duke, the Caldwell Parish assessor's salary and office expense total $28,400 per year. This includes his salary, the salaries of his deputies and for office material and supplies. According to Duke, the office expense and salaries are paid on a pro-rata basis by all taxing bodies that receive taxes through the assessor's office.

If a new president of the United States is elected in time of national emergency such as a war, would the old President remain in office or would the newly-elected President assume the duties at the end of the term?

We answered a similar question to this a few weeks ago. There is no provision for the old President retaining the office. The new President would be sworn in as per his election. The Constitution does not allow for the suspension of the normal electoral process because of national emergency.

My husband died recently and the Veterans Administration paid his insurance to his former wife even though they had been divorced 15 years. Why was this done?

The Veterans Administration is required by law to pay the insurance to the person last designated as beneficiary by the insured veteran. Your husband either neglected to change his beneficiary after the divorce or it was his wish that the insurance be paid to the former wife.

What is the procedure used by Ward 5's school board members in picking a bus driver for their ward? The only formal guideline maintained by the school board in hiring drivers is one of age — drivers must be 21 or more, 65 or less. A policy which expressed preference for hiring men, when both men and women are available, was stricken last year.

Beyond this, representatives of individual wards make their own selections. School Supt. Milton C. Hall and Morris Griggs, transportation supervisor, take applications, sort them by wards and present ward applicants to the respective ward board members.

After that, almost every aspect of an applicant is studied, members report, from health to safety records in making selections. Another main consideration is the residence of an applicant. Routes are given, where possible, to applicants living as near as can be to the routes they will serve.

Who names the Monroe city streets?

Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez answered that the Monroe City Council officially names all city streets by adoption of an ordinance. He added that suggestions are often submitted for street names, and that the Council usually tries to go along with these ideas if there is no duplication or objection.

Is there a law that prohibits airplanes, principally cotton dusters, close to a main highway?

According to Federal Aviation Agency officials, aviation restrictions state that no pilot shall fly a plane in any manner that is unsafe to persons or property on the ground. However, there is a special waiver for aircraft on agricultural missions (such as cotton dusting) which allows the plane to fly at a lower altitude. This waiver, however, is restricted to the daylight hours.

Many motorists driving through areas where the dusters are operating do not realize the maneuverability of the planes and the extent to which the pilots go to insure safety. While it looks frightening to the motorists on the ground, much of this, FAA officials point out, is due to the lack of knowledge about the aircraft. Pilots themselves know to what extent they can push the planes and act accordingly.

Since Robert F. Kennedy, from Massachusetts, Virginia and Washington, D. C., plans to be a candidate from the U. S. Senate from New York, and apparently will be allowed to run, can anybody who wants to run for office in New York state? Are there any restrictions?

We inquired of the New York Attorney General on this question and he quoted the following from the state election law, Section 147:

"A person shall not be nominated for a public office who is

New VFW Chief Asks For Buildup Of U.S. Courage

CLEVELAND (AP)—John A. (Buck) Jenkins of Birmingham, Ala., the new national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Friday that if there should be a "confrontation" between this country and Red China, "we must have the resolute courage superiority at our command."

Jenkins said in his acceptance speech after being elected Friday, "the true malevolence in Southeast Asia comes from Red China. We must anticipate the possibility of direct confrontation with this evil regime with its 660 million slaves."

To successfully resolve such a conflict there must be no hesitation, no qualm," he declared. "We must have a predetermined willingness to use our every superiority."

Jenkins said also that if South Viet Nam "falls under the Red yoke, all of Southeast Asia will be open to Communist aggression."

The convention named Andy Borg of Superior, Wis., the junior vice commander, to fill Jenkins' post as senior vice commander, and Dee Summers of Reira, Idaho, was elected junior vice commander.

The new commander said the VFW will fight what he called "continuing attempts to dismember the Veterans Administration" and for increases in veterans' pensions, pay for military personnel and benefits for disabled veterans.

not a citizen of the state of New York."

In explaining residency requirements for New York, the attorney general said residency is determined by the facts of each particular case, which the courts have held generally must show an intention, plus some affirmative action confirming the expressed intention of the person whose residency is to be established.

So, it would appear, in answer to your specific question, that it would depend on the state of New York and its courts would be allowed to run. A Kennedy probably has free rein while George Wallace of Alabama would probably be refused.

If a person retires at age 62, does he receive a lump sum plus his monthly payments under Social Security?

Local Social Security Administration officials advise that a person cannot receive a "lump sum" payment if he retires at age 62. They explained that a person can retire at 62 on reduced benefits, with the payments being reduced in proportion to the number of months that he lacks being 65. For example, they said, a person who retires at 63 would lack 24 months being 65 and would receive corresponding payments. Or, if he has not worked during the past year enough to interfere with his Social Security status, he can elect to have his Social Security benefits go back to the time he was 62, and can receive his reduced payments on the 36-month basis. In this instance, if he chose, he could receive the payments for the past year in one sum. However, officials said these are referred to as "back benefits" rather than a "lump sum" payment.

ITALIAN PARTY

New Red Leader Holds U.S. Medal

ROME (AP) — The new head of the biggest Communist party in the Western world is a former farm boy who won a medal from the United States in World War II.

The medal marked one of the many tough and dangerous stages in the life that has led Luigi Longo from his country birthplace in the Italian north to leadership of Italy's Communists.

Longo, 64, took over as secretary-general from Palmiro Togliatti, who died last Friday at 71. He had been Togliatti's deputy for 18 years.

The party directorship gave him the succession without a single dissenting vote. It's not that Longo is so beloved in the party. He has made his share of enemies. He is a somber man, a tough talker and a tough actor and many of the younger party notables relish his leadership.

But from the moment of Togliatti's death there was no doubt Longo would inherit the mantle — if only temporarily.

Longo was born to fairly well-to-do peasant parents in Fubine Monferrato, a hamlet in a Piedmont region noted for sweet wines.

At 20, he joined the Socialist party.

Then, dissatisfied with what he considered the party's shilly-shallying, he joined forces with some other Socialists who wanted to go farther left. They founded Italy's Communist party.

Mussolini's Fascists jailed him. He made his way out of the country, and worked underground in France and Switzerland supervising forgery of documents for other party members and sympathizers.

From 1933 to 1935 he worked in Moscow as a member of the Comintern political commission. When the Spanish civil war broke out, the Communist leadership sent him to Spain. He was wounded serving as an inspector general of the international brigades.

Longo's underground code name was Gallo — rooster. He carried it with him when he went back to Italy in 1939 at the outbreak of World War II. He was seized by the Fascists and confined on the prison island of Ventotene.

Freed in 1943, he joined Communist partisans fighting the Fascists behind German lines. His leadership in the resistance won him the American Bronze Star. The citation was signed by President Harry S. Truman.

Negro Children Fail To Appear

CARTHAGE, Miss. (AP)—Negroes failed to step into first grades Friday at four rural Leake County schools, whose doors were ordered opened on a nonracial basis.

Supt. J. T. Logan told newsmen, 25 minutes after registration began:

"Registration has been completed and no Negroes appeared."

Negroes make up 40 per cent of the population in this central Mississippi county where former Gov. Ross Barnett spent his childhood.

Leake County is the first Mississippi rural system under a desegregation order.

One other Leake County school, the Carthage attendance center, will register first graders next Tuesday. An attendance center includes grades 1-12.

The Leake schools were directed by a federal court to lower racial barriers. That same order opened first grades to Negroes in Jackson and Biloxi.

Jackson quietly registered 43 Negro first graders, while Biloxi counted 17.

Leake is the second school system of four in the state ordered to desegregate, where Negroes have failed to appear. In Clarksdale, deep in the Delta, Negroes failed to appear when first grade registration was conducted at city schools on a non-racial basis.

There are three Negro attendance centers in this county of 18,600 population. The Negro pupils began classwork three weeks ago. They will be released for two weeks during the peak of the cotton harvest to assist in field work.

Logan said first grade enrollment at the attendance centers in Edinburg, Lena, Madden, and Walnut Grove "was as had been anticipated."

California Boy Admits Killing Of Grandparents

MADERA, Calif. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy who said he "just wondered how it would feel to shoot grandma" has been booked on suspicion of murder in the deaths of his grandparents.

William Helm, Madera County chief deputy sheriff, said Friday 6 foot 4 Edmund E. "Guy" Kemper III admitted killing his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kemper of North Fork, Thursday.

North Fork is a small Sierra community.

A telephone call from Guy's mother, Mrs. Clarnell Kemper in Helena, Mont., first informed officers of the slayings. Guy called his mother from North Fork and told her what he had done. Mrs. Kemper called the Madera County sheriff.

While deputies were on their way to North Fork Guy called the sheriff.

Officers found the body of Mrs. Kemper, 68, sprawled in a bedroom with two bullets in her head. She had been stabbed three times in the back.

Mrs. Kemper, author of several children's stories, was sitting at her desk in the living room completing a boys' magazine story when she was shot from behind. Her body was dragged to the bedroom.

Guy said he stabbed her because he "did not want her to suffer."

Kemper, 72, a retired division of highways electrician, was shot as he alighted from his pickup truck after a shopping trip. Guy said his grandfather was smiling when he came home and "I didn't want him to see what I had done." The body was dragged into a garage.

Described by high school classmates as a "nice, quiet boy, but a lone wolf," Guy was living with his grandparents because his parents were divorced.

Miller Speaks In New York, Pennsylvania

OLEAN, N.Y. (UPI)—Republican vice presidential candidate William E. Miller said Friday the GOP was prepared to take up the explosive question of civil rights but only if the Democrats make it a campaign issue.

Miller said Republicans did not plan to make civil rights an issue in the 1964 campaign and had no intention "to give flame to these tensions."

The New York congressman, in a one-day series of speaking engagements in New York and Pennsylvania, arrived at the Olean Airport in a chartered plane Friday morning.

Following a series of receptions here and in Bradford, Pa., Miller was scheduled to give a major address at Jamestown, N.Y., at 8:30 p.m.

Miller termed the just concluded Democratic National Convention "an incredibly bad example of the democratic process in action.

"Four four painful days, the Democrats were held together by a loyalty oath which fabricated unity and whipped the minority into line," he said.

Minutes after he arrived here, Miller held a news conference on a windswept hill.

Filibusters Good And Bad

One of the strangest things to be found anywhere is the Senate filibuster. If it seeks to prevent enactment of some nefarious legislation, it is good. If it seeks to bar the passage of some good and much needed legislation, it is bad.

Not long ago, a group of stalwart Southern Senators, joined by a few from elsewhere, attempted to hold back enactment of a law many considered one of the greatest attacks on individual freedom in the history of this country. At that time, so-called "liberals" berated the Southerners and accused them, by talking too much, of trying to defeat the will of a majority of the people. The bill against which the Southerners were holding the line, until they were beaten down by a cloture-rule vote, was the so-called "civil rights" bill.

None of the Southerners changed their minds. They believed they were acting to preserve individual freedom, cherished traditions and situations that were best for all concerned. Neither did most of the people throughout the country change their minds, nor was there ever anything to show that a majority of the people favored invoking the freedom rule and passing the freedom - destroying "civil rights" bill.

Now a different situation has arisen but the filibuster is still involved and to such an extent that it threatens to delay adjournment of this session of Congress. But the filibuster has changed sides. Before, the "liberals" wanted to cast the filibuster aside and get on with the business of yoking people of different races, heritages, customs, educations and inclinations together. They succeeded in enacting the law to cram forced integration down the throats of people wishing to choose their own associates.

This time those who sought to preserve their individual rights are trying to enact legislation that will preserve the right of states to do their own apportioning of their state Legislatures, including House and Senate. This action is necessary because the Supreme Court of the United States, in its zeal for taking authority away from the states and centralizing all power in the hands of the federal government, tore the United States Constitution asunder and declared not only that the federal government had a right to do the apportioning but that all apportionments should be made on the so-called basis of "one-man-one-vote," meaning a member of the House or of the Senate for each unit of population.

The Constitution provides that members of the House shall be apportioned on the basis of population but that there shall be two United States Senators from each state. This takes into consideration the need for additional representation for greater numbers of people but prevents full control by the large states over the smaller states. That was the way it was intended and clearly stated by the framers of the Constitution. Generally, with no other pattern to go by and believing the Constitutional provisions to be of great merit, the states followed this system in electing members of their State Senates and State Houses of Representatives. This system had prevailed ever since the adoption of the Constitution — until the Supreme Court decided to nullify these good provisions.

Having taken steps to wreck the present state legislative system, the Supreme Court might just as well decide, outside the authority of the Constitution, to reapportion the members of the Senate of the United States. If it should do that, some states might have one Senator or two and others might have a dozen or so. This would mean a half-dozen metropolitan areas, such as New York, Chicago and Detroit, could control the whole country — like the tail wagging the dog.

That is what the Supreme Court appears to want and what the so-called "liberals" want, because they think it would give them more power. But it is not what the people of the smaller states want nor what the conservatives want.

Before the United States Senate now are bills proposing to return apportionment to the states, where it properly belongs. This time it is the "liberals" who are conducting an extended debate, commonly known as a filibuster — and their aim is to prevent legislative reversal of the Supreme Court's unauthorized removal of apportionment powers from the states.

In reality, the effort to set aside the decree of the Supreme Court is an effort on the part of the Senate to retain its legislative powers, instead of allowing them to be usurped by the Supreme Court. In so-called "civil rights" and in apportionment, the Supreme Court has exceeded its authority and has presumed to set itself up as a law-making body and thus to usurp the function of Congress. It is a struggle between the legislative and judicial branches of government, with the former trying to hold onto the authority given it by the Constitution and with the Supreme Court trying to set itself up as mightier than the Constitution and mightier than the Congress. In a democracy, that would be an intolerable situation. It would mean the destruction of the democracy.

During the long struggle over the so-called "civil rights" bill, many of the so-called "liberal" Senators deplored the filibuster tactics time and again. Then, according to the Northern "liberals," "extended debate" lay completely outside the democratic process and had no place in a 20th Century Congress. They called it outmoded and archaic. They professed the belief that the will of the majority should prevail at all times and declared "obstructionism" should not be allowed to delay the votes needed to pass legislation before the Senate.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. The liberals want Congress to yield its legislative powers to the Supreme Court and to let that court be the law of the land, simply because it happens to be a "liberal," socialistic, centralized government court.

While Congress should act to nullify completely the apportionment decision which the court rendered without authority or legal authorization, legislation now before the Senate simply proposes to delay such apportionment two years, so that a study of its implications may be made.

Many legal authorities believe the court decision regarding senate reapportionment goes far beyond the grounds of both constitutionality and common sense.

Yet, we find the so-called "liberals" using the filibuster, a tactic which they condemned not many weeks ago, in an effort to prevent congress from correcting an erroneous and destructive Supreme Court ruling.

Foreign Aid Iniquities

Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, though a staunch conservative and a logical thinker, views foreign aid somewhat more leniently than we, and a good many others do. Our rather close observation of foreign aid and the methods used in delivering it have convinced us that the funds could be used much more advantageously for other purposes.

Senator Thurmond had this to say: "The basic fallacy underlying our foreign aid program is the notion that friendships can be purchased. Another basic fault lies in the gross mismanagement which has been evident in this program since its inception. There is also the inordinate leeway which the administrators have been permitted to assume. Foreign aid has its place when made available to friendly nations in a reasonable amount to turn the tide against communism and in favor of freedom."

ROBERT ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Kennedy Promises To Let Bobby Baker's Case Rest

ATLANTIC CITY — Democratic campaign chiefs are breathing a lot easier over the dynamite-loaded Bobby Baker case — at least for the time being.

Reason for their relief, temporary though it may be, is the reassuring word they got from Clifton Carter, closest political lieutenant of President Johnson. At a private conference in a hotel here, the rangy Texan told them:

Neither President Johnson nor any of his White House aides involved in the Baker affair have anything to fear from the Justice Department's months-long investigation of the one-time Senate Democratic Secretary's free-wheeling and highly lucrative business operations.

In other words, there will be no politically explosive prosecutions during the fall election battle.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who has announced for the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York and is preparing to quit the Cabinet next week, gave this comforting news to the President before the national convention opened here.

Kennedy told the President this decision was based on the findings of the Criminal Division of the Justice Department. For months, the division pored over FBI reports and the headline-making disclosures of the prolonged investigation conducted by the Senate Rules Committee. Purpose of this detailed study was to determine whether legal action against Baker, Walter Jenkins, administrative assistant of the President, and others was warranted.

Assistant Attorney General Herbert Miller, head of the Criminal Division, submitted his report directly to Kennedy.

In talking to the Democratic leaders, Carter did not indicate exactly what Miller had recommended. But the definite implication was that prosecutions had not been proposed.

Of course, it's possible this might have been urged and was overruled by Kennedy. But there was no hint of that in Carter's remarks.

TEMPORARY BREATHING SPELL — The Democrats' relief may be short-lived.

Senator John Williams, R-Del., the "one-man investigating committee" who precipitated the sensational Baker exposure, is preparing to hurl new charges in a series of Senate speeches.

He will particularly demand that Jenkins be summoned before the Rules Committee for thorough grilling on a number of matters that will be spelled out by Williams. During the committee's probe, Jenkins submitted a statement but dodged testifying in person. Republican committeemen sought to subpoena him but were blocked by the Democratic majority.

Senator Barry Goldwater and other Republican candidates are bearing down strong in their campaigning on the Baker, Billie Sol Estes and other cases. Democratic strategists admittedly are worried about that.

Particularly, they were concerned about the possibility of prosecutions during the election battle. This would be a political blockbuster. But Carter's backstage tip indicates there will be none.

This, in itself, will probably be the subject of Republican castigation. They are certain to make the most of everything they can put their hands on. Senator Williams is working closely with Ralph Hill, former vending machine partner of Baker, who has subpoenaed Jenkins in a $400,000 damage suit against the one-time Senate Democratic secretary.

Hill's attorneys have asked the court to require Attorney General Kennedy, Jenkins and Baker to submit to pre-trial depositions and answer a long list of questions. These proceedings could be as explosive as Hill's suit.

TAKING NO CHANCES — Latest development in President Johnson's firm personal control of his campaign is clamping a muzzle on administration orators.

As this column revealed early this week, the President is keeping the reins of his campaign directly in his own hands and, in effect, proposing to be both the candidate and the campaign manager.

For that purpose, administration officials are being notified they must submit for White House approval all speeches and statements relating to the campaign.

A "censorship office" is being set up to handle this job. Who will be in charge of it is still undetermined. Likely choice is former Assistant Secretary of State Fred Dutton, who recently shifted to the Democratic National Committee as chief of its research and planning division.

Dutton is highly regarded by the President, and has considerable campaign experience.

RALPH DE TOLEDANO

Democratic Meet Of Slight Worth

A chilling report seeped out from under several doors at the Democratic convention. Some zealous delegates, undoubtedly happy at the opportunity to escape from home and hearth, want to hold these national get-togethers every two years. This will, the anonymous sponsors hope, bring about greater unity in their party. That it takes several weeks to get over the bruising effects of Democratic and Republican conventions would seem to cast doubt on the wisdom of the proposal.

There is a growing feeling in other quarters that even the once - every - four - years convention is obsolete. There is nothing that happened in Atlantic City which could not have been accomplished in a quieter, more orderly, and speedier manner without all the mumbo-jumbo about us today.

The platform, for example, was written well before "hearings" on the issues were held. The delegates simply listened to a number of campaign speeches which could have been reserved for a later, less hectic time. Then the texts were released.

THE MYTH THAT delegates act like free spirits, independent of their state organizations and the pressures of the national committee, has ceased to fool anyone but the determined TV commentators who must inject drama into the most humdrum situation. Now and then there are revolts or shows of spasmodic individuals. But the delegations are strictly regimented and could be represented by a single man instead of resorting to the traditional, hall-filling, platoon system.

The drudgery of maintaining a carnival spirit for four days, of making the selection of the nation's chief executive a kind of circus, benefits only the electronic media.

Television and its assorted despoilers have, in fact, moved in like an invading horde on national conventions. The sight of the TV eye can turn the most dignified politico into a performing seal. And where the working press was once king, it has been relegated to a secondary role by the camera. How can the reporter with a real news beat compete with a medium that projects anyone with a face and a voice into millions of homes?

THE TRUTH OF these observations is obvious at this convention to a greater degree than usual. Whatever denials may be made, every move and every decision was ratified by the White House. I suspect that even the rather bulky red-white-and-blue Mother Hubbards worn by the girl pages were the subject of White House discussion. They seem deliberately planned to destroy the contours of even the shapeliest figure, perhaps to protest the Peyton Place syndrome.

This convention had nothing more to do than to convene, rubber-stamp, and adjourn. Its work could have been accomplished in a moderate-sized, smoke-filled room in a couple of hours. The interminable and weighty "analyses" of television's instant pundits could have been replaced by a wrestling match, a contest, certainly, whose outcome is less controlled than that of most conventions.

But the convention continues, though it is an institution growing out of the needs of a sprawling country in the days before communications were on a push-button basis, and before the public was made cognizant of every fallen sparrow while it was still in downward transit. The convention was necessary in the days of the Iron Horse and the telegraph key, but AT&T and the jet plane have made it quaint and bothersome.

FOR THOSE WHO might consider elimination of the national convention as an attack on tradition, let it be noted that the founding fathers had no idea that the serious business of selecting a president would become a combination of revival meeting and Ringling Brothers circus. Nor did they realize that in time it would be considered a "public service" to put the whole performance on an object to be known vulgarly as the Idiot Box.

Once the primaries and the state conventions are over, the men who actually handle the business of tapping a party's nominee are relatively few, and frequently unknown. They maintain their anonymity by melting into the ranks of the delegates. A system other than what political accretion has brought us might smoke them out.

The only losers would be hotel owners — and being charged deluxe hotel rates for a room without telephone in a motel that even lacks a coffee shop has hardly won me over to their side — and the assorted purveyors of convention - time trinkets. The delegates get a chance to travel, and they feel that they are part of a historical process, which is all to the good. But it may be too high a price to pay for the wear and tear of a fraying free press and on the good nature of most Americans.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Humphrey Is Also Tricky Politician

ATLANTIC CITY — It will be widely remarked that we have as President not only an accomplished politician, but a first-rate showman. It is clear that his sudden decision to descend on Atlantic City personally to announce his choice of Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota as his choice for the vice-presidential nominee was made to offset growing sullenness among the delegates, whose uselessness in the general proceedings had begun to rankle. By arriving personally on the scene, President Johnson posed as a man who was not managing the convention from remote control, but someone who could hope to direct the convention by personally appealing to the delegates as a man so manifestly popular that to say him nay would come close to an act of high treason.

The numerous officials who were interviewed in connection with this caper were wonderfully cooperative, but the very best was Senator Magnuson, who said to a CBS reporter, "The President wants to instruct, or suggest to the convention who should be VP." Everyone, needless to say, fell in line, and as H. L. Mencken remarked a generation ago, the anointed candidate was promptly compared to the milky way, the rising sun, and the aurora borealis. The spectator was of course left wondering why, if the virtues of Senator Humphrey were all that salient, so much doubt should have preceded his selection. If the beauty sits there surrounded by beasts, one hardly supposes that a great act of national deliberation should precede her adoption.

What does the nomination of the Senator mean? He is a very slick hombre. One observer, a veteran journalist who has covered these affairs for many years, said to an interviewer: "personally I'm glad, Senator Lyndon Johnson was originally a right winger and he has been moving right." I judge that generally to be over-optimistic and it is worth meditating upon.

Senator Humphrey is a cynic of the kind who believes cynicism to be the only truly healthy political response. Rather like the morally unoriented man who, it is said, read Uncle Tom's Cabin in jocular mood to a few old friends, that he won the mayoralty of Minneapolis by the simple device of appearing consecutively at different sections of the city at afternoon picnics and following an identical routine. "I would say to them" — his eyes twinkled, "Ladies and Gentlemen, before going forward, I would like the children to come right up here in the front row so that I can feast my eyes upon them. The reason I ask this is because the children I see here in this ward, in this city on this afternoon are positively the healthiest, most beautiful children I have ever seen in my entire life." The crowd would roar, and the children would shuffle forward and sit down, cowed by this god-father of them all. "And do you know, when I went to the next ward the very next day," the Senator said jubilantly "I would say exactly the same thing! It slayed them."

During the McCarthy years, Senator Humphrey showed just how pliable he could be. At that time he was much buffeted, as the most conspicuous leader of the liberal wing of the Democratic party, for an alleged softness on the question of internal security. He came upon the necessity to win reelection in 1954, and the question arose among the electorate whether he was so indifferent to the problem of internal subversion as to be disqualified from holding responsible office. Whereupon the darling of the American Civil Liberties Union, of the Americans for Democratic Action, of the left wing of the Democratic party, came forward with a piece of legislation of a scope so daring as to take the breath away from the most ardent McCarthyite. It was, no less, a bill to outlaw the communist party. The liberals howled with dismay.

SEN. ELLENDER TELLS FORUM

Federal Cotton Program Costs Exceed Estimates

By FRANK NOONAN
Farm Editor

The cost of the new federal cotton program this year will run far in excess of original cost estimates by its sponsors, the chairman of the U. S. Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, told delegates to the Fourth Annual Louisiana Cotton Forum here Friday afternoon.

Louisiana Senator Allen J. Ellender, who opposed the new cotton law, which provides for direct payments to farmers and cotton merchants, said the first year cost of the program "will be at least $753 million and may amount to more."

He added, "This is quite different from the $448 million estimated by the sponsors of the bill. And, as a matter of fact, it is considerably more than the cost of the program under the 1958 law."

Explaining further, the cost details of the measure, Ellender said, "I cannot emphasize too much that among these costs will be a direct payment charge amounting to an estimated $312 million. This direct payment will be made to any qualified cotton merchant or the mills this year and next. This $312 million outlay will result in an increased domestic consumption of about one million bales."

"Therefore it is costing $312 a bale for every bale that the mills consume over and above last year. In my opinion, it would have been less costly to give them the additional cotton used."

Proponents of the new measure, said Ellender, estimated a large reduction in cotton production. "But on August 10, the official estimates of the Department of Agriculture indicated a cotton crop this year of about 14.8 million bales, just about two million bales higher than the proponents of the bill estimated in March of this year."

He said estimates by the U. S. Department of Agriculture issued around the same date indicated that domestic consumption of cotton this year would amount to 9.6 million bales with exports of approximately 5.2 million bales.

"This is precisely the same as estimated production," he said. "If these more recent estimates come to pass there will be no reduction in stocks."

The senator said there is no easy solution to the farm problem.

"While I wish that I could lay on the table for you today the direction that new legislation will take I know that I cannot," he said.

He pointed out that next year Congress will be required to consider new legislation for cotton, corn, and other feed grains, wheat, wool, and perhaps for dairying.

He described this as "a large order," and said in preparation for the task he obtaining information and advice from scientists and technicians at land grant colleges, all major farm organizations, and from other experts in the field.

In spite of its many problems, the senator said, "Agriculture is the nation's largest industry with assets of $216 billion."

Another speaker at the afternoon session provided a view of the cotton situation from the viewpoint of the synthetic fibers industry.

Amos L. Ruddock, Williamsburg, Va., marketing manager of textile fibers department of Dow Chemical Company, said, "Neither cotton nor polyfibers (synthetics) have a decisive advantage in the coming struggle for markets. Cotton has low price and comfort in its favor, but has generally been unable to match the performance characteristics of polyfibers. Polyfibers, on the other hand, have performance, but so far have been unable to equal the economics and comfort of cotton."

On the matter of competitive element of natural and synthetic fibers, he observed, "Of course both groups are striving diligently to strengthen individual weaknesses, but judging by the progress made by either group in the past few years, this is not likely to come quickly, if indeed at all. Considering these factors, the period ahead can be characterized as one of adjustment and compromise rather than a complete debacle for either contender. Neither group of fibers needs to be, and probably will not be, seriously hurt. In fact, there is ample evidence to indicate that the compromises reached in the next decade will probably be to the benefit of both."

Rail Convention To See Paintings

BAILEY, Colo. (AP)—A collection of railroad historical paintings, valued at about $12,000, was shipped Friday to Newark, N.J., and the National Railroad Historical Society convention.

The paintings were the products of Otto Kuhler, who designed many early streamlined passenger trains, including the Lehigh Valley's Black Diamond Express, Milwaukee Road's Hiawatha and the Baltimore & Ohio's Royal Blue.

In retirement, Kuhler, now in his 80s, has put old railroad scenes on canvas.

The paintings were shipped to Newark by airplane.

Ruddock cited statistics to show that consumption of wool and cotton are continuing to decline while that of man-made fibers is increasing steadily.

Among speakers at the morning session of the Forum held at the Virginia Hotel was Gov. John J. McKeithen, who said that cotton is "one of Louisiana's chief sources of revenue and still one of the bulwarks of our economy."

Describing himself as "at least a part-time cotton farmer," he described the value of the crop and its potential.

He said last year's state cotton crop was valued at $125 million, which represents a consumer expenditure for cotton products of approximately $708 million.

Other speakers included E. Lee Langford, southern regional analyst with the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; James Hand III, cotton planter of Rolling Fork, Miss.; C. E. McDaniel, National Cotton Council, Memphis, and Dr. Doyle Chambers, director of Louisiana State University Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Sponsors of the event were the Cotton Industry Committee of the Increase Cotton Profits Program; Louisiana State University Agricultural Extension Service, and the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Nelson Abell, chairman of the Chamber's Advisory Cotton Forum Coordinating Committee, was presented a plaque of appreciation for his part in staging the forum, by county agricultural agents of the northern district.

LBJ Takes Humphrey To Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson brought Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey to the live oak country of central Texas as Friday to begin plotting strategy for their fall campaign.

Johnson and the Minnesota senator, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, flew to Texas from Atlantic City, N.J., where Thursday night they formally accepted the call of their party's national convention to lead the Democratic forces into the November election.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Humphrey accompanied their husbands on the flight to the 400-acre LBJ Ranch.

The first leg brought the Johnsons and the Humphreys by jet transport from Atlantic City to Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex., the state capital. There all four got in some early campaigning, greeting an airport crowd of 1,000 before flying the final 65 miles to the ranch by helicopter.

Within five minutes after reaching the ranch, the Johnsons and the Humphreys climbed into an electric-powered golf cart and drove onto a neighboring highway to resume their handshaking.

Some 50 people, waiting there, had just been told to "move on" by state highway patrolmen. But Johnson countermanded these orders, and, with Humphrey and the ladies, greeted the assembly before turning back onto the ranch property.

Johnson, expected to remain at the ranch until Tuesday or Wednesday, invited his running mate to accompany him there to begin campaign planning, as the President put it, "in the shade of the live oaks on the banks of the Pedernales."

The Johnsons' frame and stone ranch house overlooks the north bank of the Pedernales River, a stream that might be termed a brook in other climes. The river itself is lined with gnarled live oak trees.

Johnson and Humphrey didn't wait to get to the ranch, however, before starting their campaign. And neither did their wives.

The President, sporting a yellow Texas-style straw hat, worked his way along an airport fence, exchanging greetings, handshakes and occasional kisses with home-state newcomers.

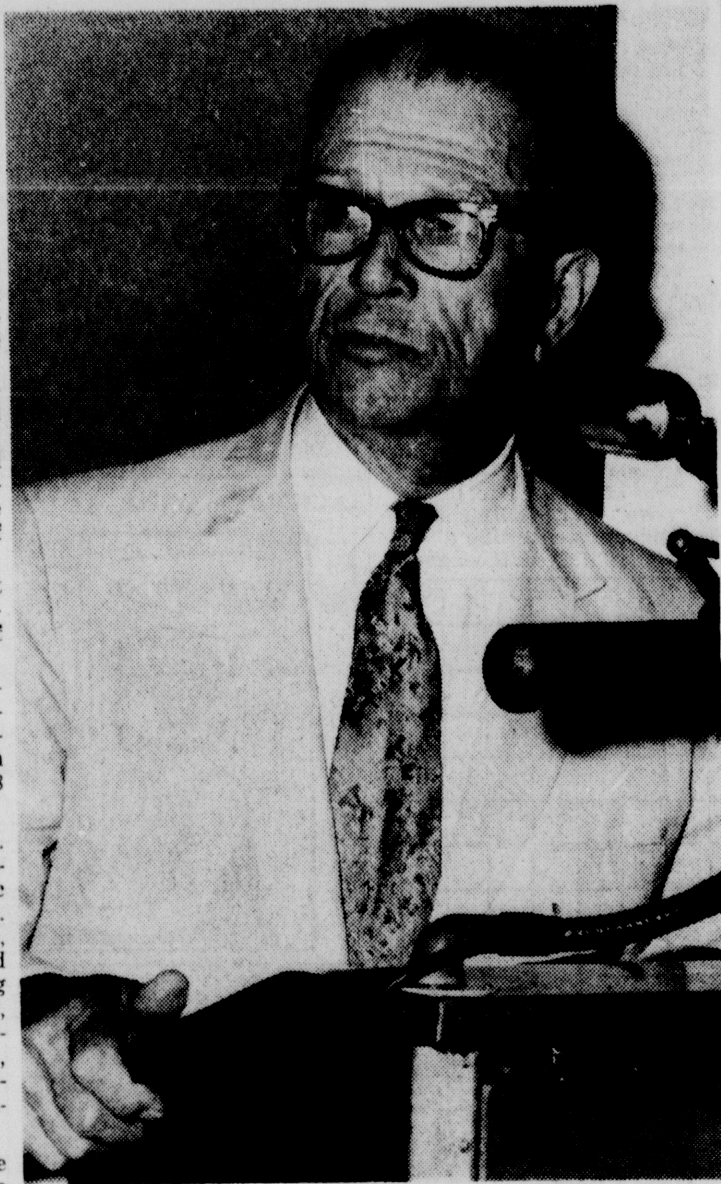

Humphrey followed Johnson, accompanied by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who introduced "my good friend" to the enthusiastic crowds.

Mrs. Johnson began working another segment of fence, flanked by Mrs. Humphrey.

The Democratic nominees will combine weekend strategy sessions with tours of the ranch and surrounding countryside, which the Humphreys have visited before.

Johnson and Humphrey also were expected to see reporters at the ranch Saturday and, in the evening, attend a barbecue in neighboring Stonewall to be-latedly mark Johnson's 56th birthday, which he celebrated Thursday.

Before leaving Atlantic City, Johnson addressed members of the Democratic National Committee and urged that all party officers be promptly re-elected so they could go right back to work.

COTTON LEGISLATION, past and present, was discussed at the Fourth Annual Louisiana Cotton Forum here Friday by U.S. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Alcoholism Center To Open Tuesday

The Twin Cities Council on Alcoholism (TCAA) will open its information center in Monroe Sept. 1 at suite 115 of the Louisville Business Center. The TCAA, under direction of Nina Maxwell, executive secretary, will offer "hope, help and health for those who suffer the illness and results of alcoholism through guidance, counsel, education and information."

Mrs. Maxwell said the staff is "competent and understanding and available for confidential and open constructive assistance on personal and community problems of alcoholism."

The founders of TCAA first met in July 1963 and the council was formally incorporated in October of the same year, based on the belief that alcoholics are sick but can be helped and that the community should be responsible for helping them.

The Twin Cities Council, which will act as a coordinating body, is set up as an intensive campaign of education on alcoholism. The council will make hospital arrangements for the acutely ill alcoholic and will establish an information center to distribute factual information on the problem. Counseling services for alcoholics and their families will be offered.

"Because, uniquely, alcoholism still bears a moral stigma that does not exist in other illnesses, it is to be only through the continued, enlightened efforts and a better understanding of a growing number of people — both lay and professional — that the complex problems of alcoholism may be reduced and hopefully solved," Mrs. Maxwell explained.

She said that "alcoholism—not social drinking" is the prob-

HOLD THAT FISH FRY

PALMETTO, Fla. (AP)—The Palmetto unit of the Florida National Guard had to call off its fish fry because the general said the cook couldn't cook.

Capt. Don Flowers said the unit planned the fish fry to raise funds to add recreational facilities to the guard quarters. Ex-Sheriff Roy Baden, long recognized as a master of preparing fish for a fish fry, was engaged to preside at the cook fire.

That was the rub. Baden is a candidate for sheriff. The guard, as a military unit, cannot mix in politics. Certain critics argued that Baden's presence would be political.

Business Brisk During 4 Days In Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) — City boosters, who gave the Democratic party $625,000 cash to woo the 34th party convention to this boardwalk town, figured Friday they got their money's worth.

Tossing in the big hall rent-free, and adding other gratis items, the outlay totaled about $690,000.

"It was a very successful convention," said Wayne Stetson, head of the convention bureau here.

The figures were not in on the big spenders as yet, but chamber of commerce officials were optimistic that the night clubs, bars, restaurants and other free enterprise establishments enjoyed a brisk business.

As for the local police, it was a headache. But Capt. M. Florianna sighed: "I think it went off very well."

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A PRESCHOOL ROUTINE

The PRESCHOOL health checkup is a popular procedure except perhaps when it comes to inoculation against the usual childhood diseases. No one wants to be a pincushion but there is some consolation in knowing that the other youngsters also receive these shots. Revaccination against smallpox is essential and the same applies to whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus. Protection also is available against polio and measles.

In the preschool tests, the physician concentrates on the eyes, ears, mouth, heart, lungs, and feet. Poor posture may result from habit but it may be brought on by muscle fatigue due to undernourishment or insufficient sleep. The importance of good vision and hearing is obvious. Disorders of these senses may go undetected for months or years. The child who has been nearsighted most of his life seldom knows the difference; so far as he is concerned, no one sees beyond the side of the road or the house next door.

The condition of the heart and lungs bears investigation. Over-exertion may aggravate a heart defect and the teacher can give these children special duties to compensate for the inability to play ball during recess.

The 6-year-old is overdue for a dental examination, as this is the age when the first permanent teeth erupt. The baby teeth begin to drop out at this time but they should not be neglected. When a decayed temporary tooth falls out prematurely, normal alignment will be disturbed unless the area is filled with a space maintainer.

Many youngsters have several colds during the first year or two of school. This should not be regarded as a lack of immunity or resistance to infection. For the first time, the child is associating with hundreds of other boys and girls in the classrooms and on the playgrounds. Many have or are coming down with a respiratory infection on any day of the school week.

LATENT DIABETIC

J. E. writes: Is latent diabetes treated the same way as diabetes?

REPLY

The potential (latent) diabetic does not need insulin and seldom requires the oral antidiabetic pills. The majority hold their own by maintaining normal weight and having periodic checkups. In addition, the urine is tested for sugar whenever they go thru periods of stress such as an accident, operation, or a serious infection.

EATING AFTER STROKE

B.J.S. writes: My wife had a stroke three months ago. She refuses to eat and has to be fed intravenously. Is there any way I can make her eat?

REPLY

It is difficult to swallow after certain strokes, especially when the muscles of the throat are involved. I assume you have tried persuasion and different types of food. Be patient and by no means use force.

ADHESIONS

V.N.T. writes: What are the symptoms of adhesions caused by surgery?

REPLY

Colicky abdominal pains occur when adhesions cause obstruction of the bowel. Otherwise, these bits of scar tissue are not bothersome. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on adhesions.

ORDINARY DISHWASHING

B.G. writes: Is it necessary to sterilize the dishes and silver used by a person with cancer of the mouth and throat?

REPLY

No. Washing with hot water and soap or detergent is all you need do.

Stewardesses' Strike Strands Many Travelers

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI)—A strike of stewardesses of Capitol Airways stranded hundreds of civilian passengers of the charter service air line Friday in the United States, Canada and Europe and interrupted Air Force freight service at military installations across the nation.

Capitol said planes were grounded in New York, Gander, Newfoundland, and in London, Paris and Frankfurt.

One plane at Gander was a Southern Illinois University charter flight from England with 103 passengers. The other plane at the Newfoundland field was Miami-bound with 75 passengers.

Baked potatoes are no good fresh — they must be old and cooked and reheated several times. What fascinates me are can openers and magnetic potholders. What imagination! Who could have thought of things like that? Apple-corers! What's so fantastic about bombs? It's a grapefruit knife—that's genius.

Life is beautiful when I remember subways, knowing I don't have to take them now, especially in Summer when the huge overhead fans circulate the air, shoving stinky air from one corner to the other.

It was fun to steal. Things seemed so much more valuable. It was not just the package of gum I stole, but also the wrapper, the joke inside, the colors, the printing. Boy, oh boy! I love pigs. I'm shaped like a pig. I like penguins, too. They're great.

Remember the movie "THEM"? Terrific! Did you ever see the face of the Lone Ranger? He probably had black circles under his eyes and they didn't carry Max Factor in the local general store.

I was bald until I was two. It's nothing to be a singer or a dancer or an actor. The thing is jugglers. I used to put them down until I saw a pair of juggling brothers — the timing, the discipline, the precision, the imagination, their sense of humor! It was brilliant.

I was such an anemic kid my mother wouldn't let me take dancing lessons. She was afraid my bones would break.

When I was in Hollywood they asked me if I wanted to be in films. I told them I had a job.

Las Vegas is divine. It's like a big game of Monopoly with real money. I thought I was getting a free cab ride once when I had no singles and the driver accepted a five dollar silver dollar. Money means nothing. It's lost and it's won without a word being said. I have never before seen such honesty, such a code of ethics; the dealers take a man's last dollar and give away fortunes — all in silence, all with great dignity.

In some nightclubs, when people offered to buy me a drink, I'd ask for potatoes.

Judge Harper Levies $100 Fine In Theft Case

A Delhi man, Floyd Allen Barnhill, of Rt. 2, was fined $100 on a theft charge Friday when he appeared before Judge W. M. Harper in Monroe Municipal Court.

Theft charges against Ned Ross, 1511 Bread St., Monroe, and Cora Shields, 45, 1506 1/2 Washington St., were nolle prossed.

In the short session of city court, Judge Harper also handled several traffic counts with one man being fined for driving while intoxicated. Thomas E. Grisham, 46, 801 Lazzar St., Monroe, was fined $425 on the DWI count, $30 for no driver's license, and improper brakes and reckless driving counts against him nolle prossed.

Forfeiting bonds for reckless driving were James H. Smith, 17, 1608 Alabama St., Monroe, $30, and $5 for no driver's license; Mary White, 43, 2710 Lee Ave., $30; Charles E. Farrell, Meridian, Miss., $30; Sylvia Harris, 42, Rt. 3, Monroe, $30; Junious Smith, 57, Rt. 2, Columbia, $30 fine, and Bobby Roberts, 17, Winnsboro, $30 bond forfeiture. Roberts also forfeited a $5 bond for improper muffler.

Two counts of speeding were handled with Jack Gray, 53, Rt. 5, Rayville, forfeiting a $5 bond and Charles E. East, 20, 603 Arkansas St., forfeiting a $10 bond.

In other court action, Robert Hill, 37, of 2408 S. Grand St., was fined $100 for carrying a concealed weapon.

Farm Bureau Women Honor Parish Leader

Mrs. Bea Rhymes Earle, Ouachita Parish chairman of the Farm Bureau women, was honored this week by State Bureau women meeting in Alexandria.

State Bureau Chairman Mrs. L. F. Mobley presented a book, "The Story of Free Enterprise," to Mrs. Earle.

Mrs. Earle, Mrs. Florence Thomas of the American Farm Bureau Federation commended the Ouachita Parish leader for her work.

The book, by Joe R. Belknap, will be donated to the Ouachita Parish library in Mrs. Earle's honor.

Mrs. Earle has been parish chairman of the Bureau Women for the past four years and was re-elected first vice-chairman of the state organization.

In 1962, she was named Parish woman of the year for efforts with the Bureau. She is also state chairman of the state group's Freedom Bookshelf, a position she has held for the past two years.

Police Book 14 In Thefts Here

The Monroe police department Friday released the names of 14 men reported involved in a felony theft circle that began sometime in early June. The police department, in cooperation with the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department, arrested the men Wednesday and Thursday in a quick Twin City crackdown.

Booked on charges of felony theft were Carl Ben Guinn Jr., 20, 4211 Spurgeon Dr., Monroe; Paul H. Parks, 20, Rt. 3, Box 207, Monroe; Laddie Warren Woods, 21, 4212 DeSiard Rd., Apt. C, Charles Tommy Bumgardner, 17, 104 Mallard St., West Monroe; James Oliver Dorris, 39, 3005 Ft. Miro, Monroe; Larry Randal Brashears, 20, 705 Splane Dr., West Monroe, and Harold Griffin, 33, 206 Newberry St., Monroe.

Booked on charges of receiving stolen goods were Garland Abner Shipp Jr., 19, Rt. 2, Monroe; Leonard Morris Causey, 20, 4015 Webster St., Monroe; Clifton Coon, 34, Rt. 4, West Monroe; John W. Gray, 26, 1602 S. 12th St., Monroe; James Edward Allen, 23, 1518 Parkway Dr., Monroe; Stanley Bunyard Hayes, 27, 604 S. 7th St., Monroe, and Jessie Haddox, 58, 217 Alabama St., Monroe.

The men were booked by the Monroe police department and transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail.

According to Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr., the men booked for theft, with the exception of Griffin, were present or former employees of Gibson's Wholesale in the 3000 block of Louisville Ave. The stolen goods, Kelly said, were removed from the Gibson warehouse over a three month period by the men using private vehicles.

Detective Major H. B. Johnson, who headed the investigation along with Chief Kelly, said the department's first clue came when rumors reached the department of new goods being sold at extremely low prices. An extensive investigation was started and the goods being sold were found to have come from Gibson's, Johnson said.

Chief Kelly said that after several names were listed as known suspects, police detectives made mass arrests Wednesday which led to the discovery of much of the stolen property and leads on other individuals involved. More arrests were made Thursday, Kelly reported, with the case still under investigation.

Police officials listed the following as among the stolen goods recovered: three shotguns; seven rifles, one pistol; 30 cases of assorted ammunition; two golf club sets; two cases of golf balls taken when recovered; nine hunting jackets; one pair hunting pants; two pair leather boots and one pair rubber boots; three pairs of binoculars; one electric toaster; one hair dryer; two cans of house paint; one tape recorder; three electric toothbrushes; one tool box with tools and an archery bow.

Chief Kelly said he believed this was nearly all of the stolen goods but Gibson's inventory and police investigation were still incomplete.

Kelly said that in some instances, cases of shells, valued at $50 up, were being sold for $20 and resold for $30 and $40 each. The stolen goods, Kelly added, involved, on some items, third and fourth parties. Due to this fact, he said, goods are still being recovered. He

Louisiana Bell Repairmen Sent To Aid Florida

Southern Bell of Louisiana has sent 20 repairmen to South Florida to help repair telephone damages left in the wake of Hurricane Cleo.

Fay H. Burdeaux Jr. and Billy S. Lewis, both installer-repairmen from Monroe are among the men from Louisiana who have been dispatched on the "Mission of Help." They left Monroe Friday in their trucks and are expected to reach West Palm Beach, Fla. sometime today.

Approximately 100 men from an eight-state area are being sent by Southern Bell to help with the repairs.

Some 80 men drove in their trucks to the area and 22 others left by plane for Miami Friday. Eighteen trucks were sent from Louisiana. Both the number of men and trucks may be increased if necessary.

Since the materials, supplies, trucks and methods are uniform throughout Southern Bell operations, the out-of-state men being sent into the area can begin working immediately to straighten things out.

Extra materials are being moved into the area by Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply unit of Southern Bell and the entire Bell System.

Emergency power facilities of Southern Bell at a number of central offices in Florida were employed to supply the necessary power in the stricken areas.

GOP Nominees Slate 15 States For First Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater and running mate William Miller will hit 22 cities in 15 states during their first nine days of their campaign, GOP national headquarters announced Friday.

The itinerary released by the Republican National Committee showed one joint appearance on the agenda — Goldwater will appear at Miller's campaign kickoff in the vice presidential candidate's hometown of Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 5.

The Arizona senator himself will open his drive for the White House Sept. 3 in Prescott, Ariz. He will be in San Diego and Los Angeles Sept. 8; Sacramento, Eugene, Ore., and Seattle Sept. 9; Boise, Idaho, Billings, Mont., and Minneapolis Sept. 10, and Chicago and Rockford, Ill., Sept. 11.

MADISON PARISH'S first bale of 1964 cotton has been delivered to Tallulah by Bob Graves, left, and his farm manager, C. M. Tucker, right.

The bale will be sold at auction in lobby of the Southern National Bank, Tallulah, at 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 4.

New School Attendance Law In Effect

Visiting teachers in both the Ouachita Parish and City of Monroe school systems reminded parents Friday that Louisiana's new Compulsory School Attendance Law will be in effect during the coming term.

Gov. John J. McKeithen signed the act, Act 109 of 1964, into law on July 3, and it will be in effect when Ouachita Parish schools open this Monday, city schools the following Monday, Sept. 3.

The legislation is the product of several years' study by the Louisiana Visiting Teacher's Association, in cooperation with the state's United Schools Committee, Joint Legislative Committee, Sovereignty Commission, Parent - Teacher Association and other public and private groups.

During the preceding two school years, Louisiana was without a compulsory school attendance law.

Outlining the legislation in remarks this week were Miss Josephine McCranie and Clifford R. Roberts, both of the parish system, and Miss Eleona Brinsmade of the city schools.

Basically, the law provides for the attendance at school for the full term of 180 days of every child who has passed his seventh birthday and has not yet reached his sixteenth birthday. It also covers children who enter school prior to their seventh birthdays, a point not included in previous laws.

In both local systems, a child entering the first grade at the beginning of a school year must be six years of age or before Dec. 31.

Penalty for violation of the compulsory attendance law, and subsequent conviction, could be a fine of $10 or imprisonment for 10 days, or both, for each day the law is violated. Visiting teachers are empowered to file proceedings to enforce the law.

The three officials' statement noted certain exemptions from the law and suggested that the parents wishing further information contact the respective visiting teachers' offices.

State and local agencies such as the Department of Welfare, juvenile officials, local judges, the sheriff's and police departments work with visiting teachers in enforcement of the law.

But parents are responsible for seeing that their children are regular in school attendance, the visiting teachers stressed, urging that the responsibility be met seriously. They called education "the key to a richer, fuller life."

The three pointed out that legislative acts still remain on the statute books which suspend enforcement of the compulsory attendance law in any school in which integration of the races is ordered.

Graves Produces First Cotton Bale

TALLULAH (Special) — The first bale of cotton produced in Madison Parish this year has been brought in by Bob Graves and his farm manager, C. M. Tucker, and is now on display in the lobby of the Southern National Bank.

This bale, weighing 465 pounds, was ginned on Tuesday, August 18th by Montrose Gins, and was graded Low Middling Bright, 1 1-16 Staple by A. M. Stewart.

Tucker stated that this cotton was grown from Stoneville 213 seed, planted about April 7th.

Graves' cotton is all skip-row planted, and he used Trefland to control grass in the drill and middles. His cotton was hill-dropped which eliminated the necessity of blocking it out. It was hoed once, cultivated twice, then laid by. A spray of Deisel fuel and Penta-Chlorophenol was applied between the row and gave almost perfect control of grass, weeds, and tie vines.

A nice premium for this first bale has been guaranteed by the following Tallulah business could be a fine of $10 or imprisonment for 10 days, or both, for each day the law is violated. Visiting teachers are empowered to file proceedings to enforce the law.

STRIKE LESS IMMINENT

UAW, Chrysler Nearer Accord

DETROIT (AP) — Concessions were made on both sides of the bargaining table Friday as the United Auto Workers resumed negotiations at Chrysler Corp., its No. 1 target in a drive to a new contract or a strike by Sept. 9.

Chrysler agreed to extend the current three-year contract which would have expired next Monday.

The union dropped 12 of its demands, but explained most of them were "noneconomic in character" and concerned such items as grievance and disciplining procedures.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said "no progress was made on basic issues" in an afternoon session.

He also said subcommittees would work through the weekend and that one of them would concern itself with the union's demand for an annual salary, instead of an hourly wage for production workers.

Vice President John D. Leary of Chrysler said full bargaining teams would meet again Monday. He also announced the company's agreement to extend the current contract — as Ford Motor Co. did Thursday — until 10 a.m. Sept. 9.

The union has announced it will win a pattern-setting contract for the Big Three-General Motors Corp., Ford and Chrysler — by that time or strike Chrysler. It said Ford would be its next target. Normally the union drives to a contract with one and then demands similar terms from the others.

Douglas Fraser, the UAW's Chrysler director, said the union still is demanding a national pattern of 54 minutes relief time daily for workers, but Reuther added no attempt would be made by the UAW to spell out how each plant should grant it — in bits and pieces or by complete shutdowns or something approximating coffee breaks.

Workers now get two 12-minute relief periods on each eight hour shift to attend to personal physical needs. Generally, so-called relief men spell workers at their jobs while they take time out.

Reuther assumed personal command of the union's bid for a new contract, which it hoped would set a pattern for the rest of the auto industry. Chrysler's contract runs out Aug. 31, but the union has suggested an extension and a strike deadline of Sept. 9.

Before he entered the Chrysler negotiating room, Reuther repeated to newsmen his promise that Chrysler workers were entitled to more than the company has offered and he promised the union would win it for them.

Reuther, who attended a meeting of the 104-man UAW Chrysler Workers National Council earlier Friday, disclosed that the UAW was preparing some modifications in its minor demands.

Veteran observers who could not recall any previous occasion when the UAW followed such a tactical line asked Reuther why it was adopted.

"Somebody has to start unlocking this thing if we want to get an agreement by Sept. 9," Reuther explained.

Reuther, together with UAW Chrysler director Douglas Fraser, named several UAW subcommittees to get some of the lesser contract clauses revised quickly.

"There is no change in our bargaining picture, or our overall economic demands, but we feel that if some movement is made on some lesser issues, we can get some loose ends off the bargaining table," he said.

UAW aides explained that Reuther did not mean the union was yielding on its economic or working condition demands, but rather was willing to settle some lesser issues, such as company approval of union bulletin board locations in company plants.

Reuther and Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of its General Motors Department, disclosed there is considerable unhappiness among GM-UAW members because Chrysler was picked Wednesday night as the UAW's main objective this year.

"The GM fellows are understandably militant and want to take on General Motors which is an arrogant machine," Reuther said.

Woodcock summoned the UAW's 1130-man GM Workers Council to a meeting Saturday to urge them to follow the strategy adopted by the UAW International Executive Board. That called for GM and Ford workers to stay on their jobs if Chrysler is struck.

"There is considerable unrest among GM workers and the possibility of wildcat strikes exists," Woodcock said.

Both Ford and General Motors agreed to a UAW suggestion that the current three-year pacts, which run out Aug. 31, should be extended a day-to-day basis pending some movement on the Chrysler-UAW contract front.

Under those pacts, auto workers now have a basic average hourly wage of about $3.01. The three companies offered new contracts worth about 35 cents an hour more over three years, but the UAW said the offer was too small.

Monroe Police

Arrest Driver

After Accident

Monroe police Friday night booked a 37-year-old local woman, Francis P. Collins of 705 Orleans St., on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving after she was involved in a one-car accident on Sterlington Road at 9 p.m.

Two men wanted by Morehouse Parish authorities on burglary charges were apprehended Friday afternoon by Monroe police officials and transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail. They were James Turner, 31, 2414 1st St., and Darcy J. Tippit, 22, 31½ Post St., Bastrop. Both men were arrested in the 100 block of N. 6th St.

A juvenile shoplifter was apprehended Friday morning in a downtown drug store and placed in the parish detention home. He was picked up in connection with the theft of several cigars, valued at about 60 cents.

Several minor automobile accidents were also investigated by Twin City law enforcement officials.

Baltimore, Chicago Split Two, Birds Stay On Top

Bunker Hurls Three-Hitter But Falls, 2-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore smacked three homers, including a two-run shot by Norm Siebern, and crushed Chicago 8-3 in the second game, earning a split in Friday's two-night doubleheader that kept the Orioles in first place in the see-saw American League pennant race.

The White Sox won the opener 2-1 on Floyd Robinson's two-run single in the ninth inning after an error by first baseman Siebern opened the way for the rally.

The split left Baltimore one-half game ahead of Chicago and 4½ games ahead of the third-place New York Yankees, who lost 5-3 to Boston.

Siebern helped atone for his costly first game miscue with a two-run homer off loser John Buzhardt to snap a 1-1 tie in the third inning of the second game. Brooks Robinson followed with another homer, and rookie Sam Bowens banged a three-run homer in the fifth.

Steve Barber, who has beaten Chicago and New York three times each, posted his ninth victory in 19 decisions although he needed relief help from Stu Miller in the eighth.

Miller came on after the Sox loaded the bases and gave up a sacrifice fly to Jeff Long before retiring the next two batters.

The triumph ended the Orioles' four-game losing streak.

Rookie Wally Bunker hurled a no-hitter for 6-2-3 innings in the first game pitching duel with Gary Peters. A fifth-inning homer by Earl Robinson gave Bunker a 1-0 lead which he nursed into the ninth.

But Siebern, who had made three fine fielding plays earlier, muffed a throw from second baseman Jerry Adair after pinch hitter Gene Stephens led off with a grounder.

That opened the way for a typical White Sox rally. After Landis walked, catcher Dick Brown fielded Don Buford's bunt and threw too late to nip pinch runner Al Weis at third, loading the bases. Floyd Robinson then lined a single to center for Chicago's third hit, and two runs scored.

Peters, whom Stephens batted for in the ninth, won the decision and increased his record to 15-7. Bunker, whose only two losses in his last nine decisions were by one run each, is now 13-4.

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Ryan survived a first quarter rush from Detroit's Alex Karras and Roger Brown and fired five touchdown passes in leading the Cleveland Browns past the Lions 35-14 Friday night.

The victory was the third straight for Cleveland in National Football League exhibition play.

Ryan threw two scoring passes to flankerback Gary Collins and others to Paul Warfield, Tom Hutchinson and Walt Roberts. He completed 19 of 32 passes for 310 yards.

Brown and Karras threw Ryan for 33 yards in losses early in the game as Detroit built a 7-0 lead. But Ryan came back and drove Cleveland to three touchdowns in the second quarter for a 21-7 half time lead.

The loss was Detroit's first of the exhibition season after two victories and a tie.

Falstaff Wins From Davis In 11 Innings

Falstaff scored an unearned run in the top of the 11th inning Friday night to beat Davis Food, 1-0, and earn the right to play in the American Legion Amateur League playoff finals next week.

Tonight, Piggly Wiggly goes against Rivers Ford in the other semi-final series clash with the winner advancing into the finals against Falstaff.

After Falstaff's Jerry Godwin and the combined pitching duo of Mel Jordan and Mike Vining, of Davis, battled on even terms for ten innings, Falstaff got a break in the 11th.

Darryl Barnes reached first base on a Davis error and was moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Ken Saterfield.

Barnes then took third on a wild pitch by Jordan and came home with the game's lone tally a few seconds later on another wild pitch.

Falstaff's slugging first baseman Charley Dykes paced the winners with three hits in five trips including two doubles. Johnny Pace and Gary Fields chipped in two hits apiece for Falstaff while Bob Betz and Bob Groves had two hits for Davis.

Godwin struck out eight and walked four in his strongman 11 inning performance. Mike Vining went the first eight innings, striking out five and walking five.

Vining was relieved by Jordan in the ninth and he was touched for three hits plus the one unearned run.

Phillies Lose, 4-2 As Pirates Rally

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Smokey Burgess' three-run homer capped a four-run rally in the ninth inning and powered Pittsburgh to a 4-2 victory over National League-leading Philadelphia Friday night.

The Phillies led 2-0 on Jim Bunning's three-hitter going into the ninth. Bunning had ignited a Phillies' two-run outburst with a single in the eighth inning.

Bill Virdon started the ninth with a bloop single to center field. One out later, Jerry Lynch walked, bringing on Red Roebuck for Bunning.

Willie Stargell hit Roebuck's first pitch for a single, scoring Virdon. Burgess, who has been ailing much of the season, then smashed a home run into the right field stands, scoring behind pinch runner Manny Mota and Stargell.

Pirates' starter Joe Gibbon allowed only four hits until Bunning led off the eighth with a bloop single to right-center field.

Bunning went to second on a single by Cookie Rojas and scored as Johnny Callison doubled to left-center. Rojas also scampered home when Callison was caught in a rundown between second and third and tagged out.

The Phillies threatened in the first inning, but Gibbon pitched out of it.

Rojas singled and was erased on a force out. Frank Thomas doubled and Alex Johnson was intentionally walked, filling the bases. Then Gibbon fanned Gus Triandos, ending the threat.

The Pirates almost got their foot in the door against Bunning in the second but were stymied by bad base running.

Stargell opened the inning with a double off the left field scoreboard. The Phillies, however, maintained that Stargell missed first base, and Stargell was declared out. One out later, Bill Mazeroski singled.

Boston Rallies For 5-3 Win Over Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix Mantilla's three-run seventh-inning homer off Al Downing carried the Boston Red Sox to a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

Mantilla's 21st home run, a towering drive that hit the screen on the left field pole, followed walks to Ed Bressoud and pinch hitter Al Smith and lifted the Red Sox to their ninth victory in 13 meetings with the third-place Yankees.

Dick Radatz, making his 66th appearance, protected the margin over the final three innings for winner Bill Monbouquette, 9-11. Dick Stuart gave the Red Sox an insurance run in the eighth when he slugged his 30th homer.

Downing, seeking his first victory in two weeks, checked the Red Sox on one run and five hits before weakening in the seventh. The loss was his seventh in 17 decisions. He has been victimized by late inning homers in each of his last three starts.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning when Carl Yastrzemski collided with Lee Thomas and dropped Mickey Mantle's long fly ball, permitting Bobby Richardson to score from first.

Singles by Downing and Tony Kubek and a pop fly double by Richardson gave the Yankees another run in the second and Joe Pepitone's 17th homer in the fifth made it 3-0.

Boston broke through in the sixth on a double by rookie Tony Horton and Frank Malzone's two-out single.

The Tigers erupted against Newman in the first inning, leading the bases on two singles and a fielder's choice. Freehan singled home one run. Cash doubled home two and Don West singled in two more. Dick McAuliffe delivered the sixth run with a single.

The Tigers shelled Fred Newman, 10-8, and three successors for 14 hits, including a double and home run by Norm Cash, three singles by Bill Freehan and a single and double by Al Kaline.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

World Boxing Association Bans Clay-Liston Rematch

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The World Boxing Association voted Friday to ban a Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston return bout for the heavyweight championship and said Clay would be stripped of his world crown if he goes through with the match.

"In the eyes of the WBA this would be no championship match," said National Commissioner Abe J. Greene. He said also the state accepting the bout would be suspended from the WBA, and the same suspension would apply to any other individuals connected with it.

"If a non-member state puts on the match," Greene said, "all boxers and managers and all others associated in WBA activities would be directed not to do business in the suspended state."

"These are all possibilities if they go through with this match," Greene said. "We plan to enforce our ban of the return bout to our fullest extent."

In a stormy morning session, delegates voted 27-2 not to approve the match. Kentucky and Michigan cast the dissenting votes but later reversed their decision to put the convention into unanimous accord on the issue.

Despite the WBA ban, the Inter-Continental Promotions said it would stage the match as planned in November. The site has not been selected.

Curt Howard, president of Telescript Inc., announced his company's bid of $1,800,000 for the closed circuit television rights for the fight still stands.

"If that's the stand of the WBA, we'll ignore it," said Harold Conrad, an official and spokesman for Inter-Continental Promotions. "Somewhere in the United States the fight will go on in November."

"Now that Liston has been ruled out," he continued, "who is Clay going to fight? Floyd Patterson? Doug Jones? Eddie Machen? Who's going to promote Clay against one of them?"

"We gave the WBA the courtesy of coming down here and present our case at their request. I believe their action today will split boxing right down the middle."

The WBA wanted to know the name of the person who purchased Liston's stock in Inter-Continental Promotions.

Conrad said it was C. J. Murphy, a Denver attorney.

WBA refused sanction of the fight because of its ban of return bout clauses. Liston has been dropped from the WBA ratings and there's no indication he will be reinstated. It is believed Ernie Terrell will be moved up as the No. 1 contender.

In reversing his vote, M. R. Evans of Kentucky said he was on the hot spot in casting his vote in approval of the return match.

"I owed it to a group of people, who are respected in their community," he said. "They came here to present their case and you treated them with utmost courtesy."

"I abide by the decision of this convention. There will be no approval of this match in Kentucky."

Evans was referring to representatives of the Louisville Sponsoring Group, who appeared before the WBA Thursday to seek a sanction of the fight. The LSG owns Clay's contract.

Kentucky is Clay's home. States not members of the WBA are New York, California, Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota and Wyoming.

New York and California already have disapproved the match.

Preston Carpenter Goes To Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins obtained end Preston Carpenter from the Pittsburgh Steelers Friday for a 1964 draft choice.

Carpenter, a nine-year National Football League veteran from the University of Arkansas, will be used as a reserve behind Pat Richter at tight end.

To make room for Carpenter, the Redskins asked waivers on end Jim Collier.

Barkel Becomes First Foreigner To Gain Finals

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Jack Barkel of Sydney, Australia, won his second extra-hole match on successive days at the World Senior Golf Tournament Friday and became the first foreign player ever to reach the finals.

He defeated Spec Goldman of Dallas on the 22nd hole after scoring a 20-hole victory Thursday and will play Dorsey Neverall of Pompano Beach, Fla., in the 18-hole finals Saturday.

Neither Barkel nor Goldman, runner-up for the U.S. Amateur 36 years ago, ever held a lead of more than one hole. The Australian led after 17, but on the 18th he hit his tee shot into the rough and then bounced an approach shot off a tree and into a lake.

Then, Bill Lenoir, a two-handed swinger from Tucson, Ariz., beat Bill Bond of La Jolla, Calif., a former first ten player, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 in a battle of unseeded competitors.

Sangster, England's best player, was the last foreign player to be eliminated. He bowed to third-seeded Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., ranked fourth nationally, in a titanic service duel. Scott won, 11-9, 13, 6-2.

HEADED TO BOSTON?

Twins Say Nay To Mele Move

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota Manager Sam Mele and club President Calvin Griffith shrugged off Friday a report that Mele is headed to the Boston Red Sox as manager in 1965.

"All I can say is nobody has contacted me, and I certainly haven't contacted anybody about it," Mele replied when queried about a front-page story in the Boston Herald Friday.

"I'm very happy with my job here," Mele added. "I like my job and I like working for this organization. They would have to get permission from Mr. Griffith to talk to me, and as far as I know nobody has asked for that permission."

Griffith confirmed this point. "Nobody has asked me to talk

Senators Down Minnesota, 3-1 Following Error

MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL (AP) — Washington capitalized on Rich Rollins' error for two runs, in the sixth inning Friday night and went on to defeat Minnesota 3-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Frank Kreutzler and Ron Kline.

Kreutzler, tagged for a homer by Twins' leadoff man Zoilo Versalles in the first inning, had a three-bitter until he wearied and had to have relief help in the eighth.

The senators got their winning margin in the sixth when Ed Brinkman singled and Chuck Hinton was safe as Rollins booted his potential double play grounder. Both moved up on a wild pitch by Jim Kaat, and they scored as Don Lock grounded out and Roy Sievers singled.

Kreutzler got out of a jam in the seventh after singles by pinch hitter Frank Kostro and Rollins put runners on first and third with two out. Tony Oliva lined to Brinkman, ending the threat.

Rookie Pitcher

Stars As Tribe

Downs Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Pitcher Sonny Siebert hit his first major league homer and the Cleveland Indians stole four bases in scoring a 4-1 victory over Kansas City Friday night.

The loss was the Athletics fifth straight.

Siebert, who pitched a shutout against the Angels in his last start, scattered seven hits, ending his record at 5-5.

The rookie hurler homered in the seventh against reliever Wes Stock. Siebert also singled in the ninth.

The Indians scored twice in the third, getting three of the stolen bases in the inning. Chas Salmon, bayside.

Jones Receives Fine Of $1,000 After Last Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Parnelli Jones and Rodger Ward, both winners of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, discussed Friday the possibility of appeals after receiving fines totaling $1,700 for ignoring the yellow caution flag in the Milwaukee 200-mile race Sunday.

Henry Banks, director of competition for the U.S. Auto Club, said the fine of $1,100 against Jones, the Milwaukee winner, was the highest ever imposed by USAC.

Ward, who finished second and also is a member of the USAC board of Directors, was fined $600.

Jones finished more than two miles in front in a rear-engine Lotus-Ford and Ward was more than a mile ahead of the rest of the field in a rear-engine Watson-Ford. Jones' car won $13,000 and Ward's $6,000, with the drivers getting a percentage.

USAC rules require drivers to maintain their positions at relatively moderate speeds when the track is hazardous because of wrecks or rain.

Ward said later he wanted to see the timing and scoring records of the Milwaukee race before deciding whether to appeal.

"I'm certain I gained a few seconds on Jones but he also gained some on me," Ward asserted. "They're complaining because we passed some cars. I did because he did. I had to keep my position. But before I'll admit I'm that guilty, I want to take a look."

OVER 50,000 EXPECTED

One Of Largest Crowds To Watch Giants, Eagles

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the largest crowds of the exhibition season, some 50,000, is expected to be on hand at Princeton's Palmer Stadium Saturday afternoon when the New York Giants go after their first victory of the year against the remodeled Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League game.

The top crowd of the year was the 65,000 that watched the Green Bay-St. Louis Cards exhibition in New Orleans three weeks ago.

Three other NFL games and two in the American Football League are listed for Saturday night.

Minnesota's Vikings, only unbeaten and untied team in the NFL, go for their fourth straight against the Rams at Los Angeles. Pittsburgh's Steelers, with an 0-2 record, seek their first victory, against San Francisco's 49ers, at Omaha, Neb., and Green Bay takes on the Cowboys at Dallas.

The AFL's only team with a spotless record, the San Diego Chargers, meet the improved New York Jets at Atlanta and the Oakland Raiders tackle the Houston Oilers at Las Vegas.

A number of teams saw action earlier this week. Baltimore belabored Washington, 41-14. Thursday in the NFL, Cleveland faced Detroit and St. Louis opposed the Chicago Bears Friday. Also on Friday, Boston met Buffalo and Denver took on Kansas City in AFL games.

Green Bay's Packers, back on the beam, throw their jinx as well as Golden Boy Paul Hornung at the Dallas Cowboys. The Cowboys never have beaten the Packers in one regular season and three pre-season games. Quarterback Don Meredith, shaken up against the Rams last week, is expected to start for the Cowboys.

Special interest will be centered on the Giants-Eagles clash in view of the drab showing of the Giants in their first three exhibitions and the new look emphasis placed on the Eagles.

Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants, who has done much experimenting and personnel juggling, has indicated he will go as far as possible with his regulars. This means Y. A. Tittle, the veteran passing ace, will see more action than he has in any of the previous three games.

The Eagles' new look consists of quarterback Norman Sneed, fullback Earl Gros, center Jim Ringo and end Red Cadd — all acquired from other NFL clubs — a new coach, Joe Kuharich, and a new owner, Jerry Wolman.

AT LA. TECH

Frosh, Red-Shirts Striving For Jobs

RUSTON (Special) — Twenty-eight freshmen, nine of them players who were withheld from competition last year, will be striving for positions on the Louisiana Tech grid squad which will open fall drills Sept. 1.

The nine redshirts, many of whom are expected to see heavy duty this campaign, include quarterbacks John Curtis of Shreveport Fair Park, halfback Donald Ray Smith of Cotton Valley, center Joe Raymond Peace of Sicily Island, guards Jim Willis of Neville of Monroe and Jim Towns of Minden, tackle Bruce Gremillion of Menard of Alexandria, and ends Ed Walker and Larry Stephens, both of Shreveport Woodlawn.

Freshman signees competing for backfield posts this fall include Richie Golmon of Bolton of Alexandria; Butch Daniels of Cotton Valley, Danny Crawford of West Monroe, Eddie Taylor of Ruston, Stan Belton of Minden, Phil Robertson of North Caddo, and Robert Brunet of Larose-Cutoff.

Candidates for line spots include Walter Causey of Neville of the Vikings, who defeated the 49ers last week for their third straight, will send their passing star, Fran Tarkington, and their fine pair of running backs, Tommy Mason and Bill Brown, against Los Angeles. The Rams rebounded from a one-sided defeat by Cleveland to defeat Dallas last week.

The 49ers will start George Mira, the spectacular rookie quarterback, against the Steelers, who are having trouble getting untracked. The Steelers lost their second straight, a 42-7 shellacking by Cleveland, last week.

The Chargers, who have lost only one pre-season game in five years, go after their fourth straight in 1964 against the Jets. Coach Sid Gillman will split the signal calling between Tobin

All Spots Filled For Alexandria Four Ball Affair

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — All 192 spots have been filled for the 17th annual Deep South Four Ball Golf Tournament to be played at Alexandria golf and country club, September 4 through 7th. Entries have been received from Missouri, Texas, Alabama and Mississippi, as well as from all the major cities in Louisiana.

Van Schroeder and Robert Flagler, of Shreveport, are defending champions but will be hard pressed to repeat in a field that includes four former state champions, eleven city champions, and a host of club champions.

Favorites in the senior flights, which are included this year for the first time, include Kenny Holt and Bill Jones, of Monroe; Woody Gratehouse and Jacques Doucet, of Lafayette; Al Villegas, New Orleans, playing with Nolan Hatcher, of Sheffield, Alabama; and John Waters, of Alexandria, who is paired with B. J. Murphy, Shreveport.

One of the gallery favorites will undoubtedly be Bob Pettit, of Baton Rouge, the all time great basketball star of the St. Louis Hawks.

Monroe golfers who have entered include Robert Carson and J. Frank Davis, Kenny Holt and Bill Jones.

Tickets On Sale For Ferriday's Grid Jamboree

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — Ferriday Jamboree tickets are now on sale at several business firms in Jonesville, it was announced by Coach Oliver Poole of Block high school, Jonesville.

Anyone who wishes to attend the Jamboree on Friday, Sept. 4, at Ferriday may purchase their tickets at either Atkins Drug Store, Foster's Walgreen Drug Store, Brooks Drug Store, Wilson Texaco Service Station or Quik Shop.

"We urge everyone to buy their tickets in Jonesville," Coach Poole said. "All the money collected from the tickets sold here will go to the Block athletic fund." It was pointed out that Block would receive only one-fourth of the proceeds after expenses deducted from receipts at gate in Ferriday.

"So, we urge you to get your tickets here and help your home team", Coach Poole urged.

The Jamboree will be played at Ferriday with Block of Jonesville, Waterproof, Vidalia and Ferriday participating in the game. Game time is 8 p.m.

DESPITE SHOOTING 74

George Archer Keeps Lead In Carling Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Rookie George Archer came out of a trap and sank a 12-foot downhill putt on the final green to cling to a one-stroke halfway lead Friday just before a lashing thunderstorm cooled off his challengers in the $200,000 Carling World Golf Championship.

The 6-foot-6 former cowpoke from Gilroy, Calif., had just posted his skidding 74 on top of his record first round 65 for 139 when the Oakland Hills course was struck by driving rain and flashes of lightning that delayed play for 25 minutes.

Caught in the deluge were young Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ark., and 41-year-old Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, both of whom were under par at the time with a good chance to take first place.

Finishing in almost impossible Ben Hogan — the weeie man — who birdied the 14th and 17th in midst of the most trying ble conditions — so black at times that one couldn't follow the flight of the ball and so soggy the players were sending sprays of water from the fairways on every shot — both saw their hopes evaporate in the downpour.

Sikes, two under par through the first seven holes, quickly lost four shots to par and staggered in with a 72 for 141. He played the last hole in semidarkness with automobile lights flooding the green.

Burke, one under at the 12th when the storm hit, took a double bogey at the 12th and a bogey at the 13th, shooting a 74 for 143.

"It was miserable out there," Burke said.

A player undeterred by the rain storm was the imperturbable Johnson, who caught 11 touchdowns passes from Johnson during the 1963 campaign, took a 40-yard touchdown heave from Johnson on St. Louis' first series of plays, but an offside penalty nullified the score.

Late in the final quarter, Johnson whipped a 28-yard touchdown pass to Bob Paremore, but that also was called back because of a penalty. The Bears, playing with five regulars sidelined because of injuries, never could get rolling much to the dismay of the Soldier Field crowd of 50,173.

Quarterback Bill Wade completed seven passes for 39 yards in the first half and Rudy Bukich was less effective the second half.

Mets Continue Winning Ways On 12-10 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Christopher's fourth hit of the game drove in the go-ahead run in the New York Mets' see-saw 12-10 slugfest victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday, the Mets' ninth triumph in 11 games.

At various times the Mets led 5-0, trailed 6-5, led 8-6 and trailed 10-8 in the free-swinging affair that produced a total of 33 hits, including five homers.

Christopher's single in the eighth drove in Bobby Klaus with the run that broke a 10-10 tie. Ron Hunt's two-run single earlier in the inning had squared it, and Jim Hickman's double drove in Hunt with the fourth run of the inning.

The biggest inning, however, was a six-run burst by the Cubs in the third, wiping out a 5-0 New York lead. The Cubs had seven straight hits in the third, including a three-run double by Ron Santo a two-run homer by Ernie Banks and a pinch hit homer by Len Gabrielson.

Christopher and George Altman hit back to back Met homers in the second and Ed Kranepool had a two-run shot in the third.

Twenty-Seven In Football Camp At Sicily Island

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — Twenty-seven members of the Sicily Island football squad reported for practice for

LBJ To Direct Most Of Campaign Strategy From 'Sidelines' Of White House

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., (AP)—The one thing that seems certain about the Democratic presidential campaign just getting under way is that President Johnson will direct almost every detail of it.

John M. Bailey, re-elected chairman at Friday's national committee meeting at Johnson's direction, will be the campaign manager. He will have veterans of the 1960 election battle at his side.

But Bailey is the first to concede that while he will call the signals as quarterback, the coach on the White House bench will send in all the plays.

Johnson demonstrated in the convention that he wants to control personally every move.

Four years ago Sen. John F. Kennedy put the planning of his campaign—including where he would speak and when—in the hands of his brother, Robert F. Kennedy. There apparently will be no equivalent to Bobby Kennedy in this year's Johnson campaign.

At the LBJ Ranch, near Johnson City, Texas, this weekend Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the vice-presidential nominee, will get a political strategy briefing. He already has been told by the President to be ready to campaign in all 50 states.

Presumably that would include Mississippi, where the Humphrey name is anathema because of the positions he had taken on civil rights.

Bailey said in an interview he expects Johnson to confine his campaigning to two or three-day flying excursions for appearances in stadiums and large halls where he can command maximum crowds and get the widest possible television-radio coverage.

Any joint appearance before the cameras with GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater apparently is out the window. But the national committee may finance some presidential television reports to the nation as the campaign rolls along.

Stressing the responsibility theme, Johnson would like to campaign as much as possible from his desk in the White House. He wants to create the image of a president who is so hard at work leading the country forward to better things that he hasn't much time to spend in just plain politicking.

The Democratic nominees are agreed on trying to separate about Republicans reluctant to enter what Humphrey called Goldwater's "strange world." Johnson took occasion at Friday's meeting to counter Goldwater's charge that the Democrats want to balloon Washington's powers and pile spending on top of spending.

"We do not want big government or small government," we want is a sensible government, saving every place it's integration. He said that while the polls show 10 to 15 per cent of the Democrats defecting on from the cross-over of liberals this score, they also indicate and moderates.

Johnson said, "What we want is good government. We do not want a spendthrift government or a stingy government. What to wait out the white backlash

Phil St. Amant Calls For Bolt By Southerners

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Phil A. St. Amant, member of the Democratic State Central Committee, called Friday for a Southern bolt from the national Democratic party.

St. Amant, Baton Rouge, said he will offer a motion to the Central Committee to "sever relations with the national party and affiliate our state party with a Southern Constitutional Party."

The committee, which acts as a party board of directors, was scheduled to meet Sept. 5, but Chairman C. H. (Sammy) Downs said the meeting probably will be Sept. 11 or 12 because of the Labor Day weekend.

St. Amant sent a message to Alabama Gov. George Wallace, Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson, former Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen, Leander H. Perez Sr., Plaquemines Parish political leader, Sen. Harold Montgomery, Doyline, LL Gov. C. C. Aycock, and Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus.

He asked them to contact him "so that we may coordinate our efforts."

The message said the time has come for "great leaders of the South to assert leadership."

"We can no longer feed the national Democratic monster the strength to devour us. I will present to the Democratic State Central Committee... a motion to sever relations with the national party and affiliate our state party with a Southern Constitutional Party."

"We would be a minority party holding the balance of power between two other minority parties. Congress could not be organized without our vote."

Literary Award To Be Given By Mansfield Bank

A total cash award of $50 will be given by the First National Bank of Mansfield for a feature on Mansfield in the literary awards program of the 1965 Deep South Writers and Artists Conference.

Officials of the bank said that the prize will be awarded on an article, "Mansfield - History and Possibilities." There is a 1500-word limit on the story and the author must be a Louisiana resident.

First prize will be $25, second prize, $15 and third prize, $10. Sponsored jointly by the Louisiana branches of the National League of American Penwomen and the University of Southwestern Louisiana, the conference meets each June in Lafayette.

Information will be available in early fall, Miss Collier said, and requests may be sent in now.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS HERSHELL BRITAIN JR.

Brittain-Sowers Vows Exchanged In Winnfield

The wedding of Miss Mary Annette Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sowers of Winnfield to Thomas Hershell Britain Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brittain of Westlake, was solemnized August 15 at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Winnfield with Dr. W. L. Holcomb officiating.

Vows were exchanged in a setting of baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of emerald palms. Mrs. Larry Price, Winnfield, organist and Miss Nancy Walker, soloist presented appropriate wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of hand-clipped candlelight Chantilly lace over taffeta, featuring a bolero bodice with scalloped Sabrina neckline. The controlled bell skirt was accented at the waist with a self fabric rose, from which extended a full detachable train of the silk taffeta. Her veil of imported illusion was held in place by a crown of white and ivory seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom and carried a crescent bouquet of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. H. L. Irvin Jr., Ferri-day, matron of honor, wore a floor length gown of periwinkle pink peau de soie styled with slight train. She wore matching shoes and veiled headband and carried a single long stemmed pink delight rose. Dressed identically to the matron of honor in shades of pink, rose and rose-red were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harold McKinney, Waco, Texas; Miss Judy Estes, Basile; Miss Rebecca Shelton, Miss Sarah Bramlett, Miss Maria Pasco and Miss Candace Nugent, Winnfield.

Miss Jennifer Futch, Winnfield, was flower girl and wore a floor length gown of pink silk organza over taffeta with veiled headress, wrist corsage of pink carnations and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Bobby Beal, Pineville served as ring bearer.

Candles were lighted by Miss Deborah House, Minden and Stephen Shelton, Winnfield.

Dr. W. L. Bergeron of Ruston attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Grady Brittain, Dane Brittain, brothers of the groom; Dale Palmer, Westlake; Jack Gwin, Maplewood; Robert Herring, with the armed forces in England and Don Lewis, Bossier City. Serving as ushers were Lynn Mathews, Wayne Reeves, Minden; Don Herring, Shreveport, and Jack Follis, Huntsville, Texas.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a royal blue knit model with hat of matching velvet petals and a pink cymbidium orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue lace over taffeta model with matching accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with pink nylon chiffon over pink satin was caught up with nosegays of pink asters, and centered with a candelabra arrangement of white tapers. Pink Delight roses and tulle puffs. At one end the tiered wedding cake was garlanded with pink roses and white wedding bells and opposite was the crystal bowl of pink punch. The groom's table was covered with a pink linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white, pink and purple grapes interspersed with pink asters. A white memory candle graced the registration table, covered with pink tulle over pink satin where Mrs. Keith Wright presided at the bride's book.

Mrs. W. D. Walker greeted guests at the door and serving the wedding cake were Mrs. Esther Sowers and Mrs. Mamie Mathews, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Kate Carter presided at the punch bowl and at the groom's table were Mrs. James Flanders, Winnfield and Mrs. Jerry Edmondson, Waterproof. Others assisting were Mrs. B. G. Pasco, Winnfield and Mrs. H. A. Kornegay, Dodson. Tea girls were Misses Jane Brady, Brenda Haddox, Pamela Peterson, Pat Rodgers, Elizabeth Hemphill, Marsha McElwee, Fran Shell, Dona Beth Harrell and Helene Byrnes.

When the couple left on a short trip to Texas the bride was wearing a suit of cranberry red silk with pink lace blouse, pink beaver hat and black lizard accessories. The couple will be at home in Baton Rouge where Mrs. Brittain has accepted a position as music teacher in Central high school and Mr. Brittain will work toward his masters degree at Louisiana State University. The bride attended Louisiana College and is a recent graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute with a degree in music education. She was chosen May Queen at Louisiana College and Miss Louisiana Tech while at Tech. Mr. Brittain recently received a degree in psychology from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

GUESTS IN THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Breard, 400 Eason Place are Mrs. Breard's mother and sister, Mrs. A. M. Culpepper and Miss Jane Culpepper who arrived Wednesday from The Hague in Holland where they have resided the past three years. After two weeks visit with the Breard family they will leave for Washington D. C. where Miss Culpepper will be stationed, and they will reside.

Bridal Party Festivities Entertain Engaged Couple On Eve Of Wedding

Following the rehearsal for their wedding today in Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church, Miss Pamela Cole O'Donnell and Claude Jarvis Thomas were honored at a dinner party given Friday night by the parents of the prospective bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Thomas. On Thursday, August 27, a family luncheon was given to entertain the engaged couple by Dr. and Mrs. Irving J. Wolff at their home on Park Avenue. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Donnell.

The Jade Room of the Paragon Supper Club was scene of the rehearsal dinner which concluded pre-nuptial courtesies for the betrothed couple.

Southern smilax was used down the center of the banquet tables, arranged in U-shape with the central decor featuring an arrangement of white stock and pompons in a silver epergne. Appropriate bridal place cards completed the setting.

For the occasion Miss O'Donnell was wearing a blouson sheath style dress of turquoise silk and a white orchid corsage. Following dinner the couple presented gifts to their bridal attendants.

Those attending included the Rev. Dave P. Dabria, the Rev. Earl Provenza, Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Richardson of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Dr. and Mrs. George O. HINTS FROM HELOISE

Ironing And Sewing? Use Only One Table

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint for using a portable sewing machine:

Lower your adjustable ironing board so that it will be the correct height when you are sitting on a chair, and place your sewing machine on the wide end of the board.

This leaves you with space at the other end of the ironing board for all sorts of things. You can press all your seams on the smaller end of the board without even getting off that chair!

Kathryn M.

Now, why haven't I ever thought of that?

And after trying it, know what? The cushion on my ironing board even absorbed the noise.

Best yet, I only had one table to clean!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Recently I purchased a new mail box. After I removed my old, hanging, wall-type mail box, I painted it and filled it with no-longer-choice artificial flowers.

I hung it on the patio wall and it is very attractive.

Mrs. J. O. Pope

Dear Heloise:

My Man Friday . . . is a TV tray-table. It goes with me from room to room as I clean and dust.

Articles are transferred to the tray from table tops, shelves, and drawers to wherever they are to be cleaned, and then returned to where they belong.

Just try it once and you will find how convenient and helpful these trays are in many ways.

L. D.

Dear Heloise:

When I open canned fruit (peaches, apricots, pineapple or pears) I pour the heavy syrup into empty, clean cartons and put the cartons in my freezer.

This juice can be colored different colors with food coloring if desired, and it makes a nice block of ice to put in punch, tea, etc. It looks pretty in a large punch bowl and children enjoy it.

The best part is that your punch doesn't get watery from melted ice.

Mary W. Allen

And have you ever heard of using leftover coffee this way? Sure makes for a good glass of iced coffee. It won't dilute the coffee and make it taste watery.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

With regard to the lady who wrote about turning an almost empty bottle of catsup upside down on top of another bottle to salvage the last bit of catsup . . . I have gone one step further.

I used to balance one bottle on top of the other but now I save a cardboard roll from toilet tissue and place it over the neck of the bottle which I want the catsup to go into, and insert the top of the almost-empty bottle in the upper end of the roll.

This keeps the necks of both bottles exactly in line and no spills or drips.

Mrs. James Shields.

Oh, Mrs. Shields, this is about the trickiest idea ever. It also works on chili sauce bottles. It is absolutely amazing that this little cardboard roll holds the necks of the two bottles in place perfectly.

Also, every iota of sauce came out, leaving the top bottle slick and clean as a whistle.

Hale-Oxford Nuptials Read In Sterlington

Vows uniting Miss Belinda Louise Oxford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Louis Oxford, Sterlington and William Shelby Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hale of Madisonville, Kentucky, were solemnized Saturday, August 15 in the First Baptist Church, Sterlington. Rev. Loy E. Baird, assisted by Rev. Ray Raddin performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m.

Twin baskets of white gladioli and four branched candelabra holding white tapered formed a background setting. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Ledger, organist and Mrs. Jackie Moore, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de soie with bodice overlaid by Chantilly lace. A pearl crown held her veil of illusion and she carried a lace covered white Bible, crested with a white orchid bouquet.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Mrs. Dwayne Kinnison as matron of honor and Miss Sharon Oxford, matron of honor. They wore blue sheath gowns with headresses of two white roses atop a veil of illusion. Bridesmaids were Miss June Welch and Miss Vinita English, who wore blue full skirted frocks and identical headpieces. Each carried a single red rose.

Paula Austin and Louann Hamilton served as flower girls and candelighters were Misses Nelda English and Charlotte Welch.

Dwayne Kinnison attended the groom as best man and ushers were Mike Powell and Larry Pace.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a beige sheath with blue hat and matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed in the social hall of the church where the bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth held a central arrangement of white tapered in crystal candelholders. Ivy encircled the crystal punch bowl and the tiered wedding cake at either end of the table.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1009 North 3rd in Monroe. For travel the bride wore a blue lace sheath with matching accessories and a white orchid. The bride graduated from Sterlington high school and Mr. Hale, who received his education in Kentucky, was recently discharged from the navy and is employed in Shreveport.

DEAR ABBY

Either Report Animals Or Muzzle Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: It is badthink of a daughter who tells her own mother she'll gladly pay to keep her at the finest senior citizens' home (or anywhere else the mother wants to live), but her PSYCHIATRIST advised her against letting her mother continue to live with her? Well, that's the kind of slap in the face I got this morning. I could write a book about how I sacrificed my whole life so this ungrateful child could have the best clothes and get the best education. She married a rich man and has everything she wants now. I lost my husband a year ago and have lived with my daughter ever since. We've had a few disagreements, but nothing serious. She started seeing a psychiatrist and, if you ask me, I think he is only mixing her up, but she thinks he's God. Maybe I should ask the psychiatrist what my daughter has against me. I think she's crazy. What should I do?

HEAD COMING OFF

DEAR ABBY: If the dogs bark at night, report their owners to your police department. If they bark during the day, report them to the S.P.C.A. If they still bark, muzzle your husband.

DEAR ABBY: What do you

CAST-ASIDE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Move out quietly, quickly and without questions. Perhaps if you were to talk to your daughter's doctor you would gain a better understanding of her problem. Since your "whole life" was sacrificed for your daughter, sacrifice a little more and be patient.

Twins Club Hears Panel Discussion

The Twin Cities Twins Club met recently in the First National Bank Building in West Monroe with Mrs. Ebert Van Buren presiding over the business meeting and a discussion panel of educators from local schools making up the program.

The panel comprised Mrs. J. W. Moore, Jr., from St. Paul School, Mrs. H. Austin Miller, principal from Sally Humble elementary school, Gene Harding, principal of West Monroe Junior High school, and Mrs. Malcolm LaFence of West Monroe high school. Mrs. Paul Cowan served as moderator for the group.

Serving refreshments were Mrs. Lawrence Nola and Mrs. W. T. Tubb. Other members present were Mrs. Robert Butler, Mrs. Bryan Ritter, Mrs. Paul Cowan, Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. S. D. Sloan, Mrs. J. M. Mitchell, and Mrs. Ebert Van Buren.

Pascal Norris will speak at the next meeting of the club to be held September 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the First National Bank Building in West Monroe.

HURRICANE LAMPS

You can make your own hurricane lamps for outdoor dining and decoration with only a glass chimney, a tin pie plate, and a circle of a commercial foam flower holder, says the Society of American Florists. Set a candle in the center of the water-saturated foam flower holder, cover with a glass chimney, and place in the center of the pie plate.

GOP, DEMO DIFFERENCES

Goldwater, LBJ Outline Issues To Start Race

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The presidential election campaigns are barely under way but already the two candidates have sketched the outlines of their messages to the voter.

For President Johnson, if his speech Thursday night accepting the Democratic nomination was a guide, the major issues will be peace, prosperity, programs for the needy and responsibility in control of nuclear weapons.

For Republican nominee Barry Goldwater the issues, as outlined to The Associated Press by his press secretary Pal F. Wagner, will be defense, foreign policy, crime and morality, and corruption in government.

Goldwater has already touched on them in major speeches in Cleveland, Ohio, and Springfield, Ill., since his nomination.

Johnson's acceptance speech said the Democratic candidates would run "on our record and by our platform."

That record includes, Johnson said, "the largest and longest period of peacetime prosperity in our history."

He said at another point: "Men of both parties have built a solid foundation for our present prosperity. Too many have worked too long and too hard to see this threatened now by policies which promise to undo all that we have done together over all these years."

"But prosperity for most has not brought prosperity to all," Johnson said. "Those who have received the bounty of this land — who sit secure in affluence and safe in power — must now turn from the needs of their neighbors. Our party and our United States has built the mightiest military machine of all time but men make peace."

"The true courage of this nuclear age lies in the quest for peace."

"There is no place in today's world for weakness. But there is also no place in today's world for recklessness. We cannot act rashly with the nuclear weapons that could destroy us all. The only course is to press with all our strength and will to make sure that these weapons are never really used at all."

Goldwater's main thrust on the foreign policy so far has been aimed at U.S. conduct of the war in Viet Nam and claims that the administration is too willing to negotiate with Communists.

In his Cleveland speech, Goldwater said the nation's leaders "are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament. Their eyes are turned away from the real world and are fixed in a hypnotic stare upon a dream world."

On defense, Goldwater said in Cleveland that "peace, in a troubled world, can never be kept by the weak. Peace is the reward of strength."

And in Springfield he declared: "This nation has gone to war under the leadership of only one party. Only under administrations such as this one have we become so weak that aggressors have been tempted to plunge the world into war."

The issue of corruption in government was put this way in his Springfield speech:

"There is a mood of easy morals and uneasy ethics that is an aching truth in our land. There should be no skeletons in the closets of any part of the federal structure and that goes for the smallest agency right up to the White House itself."

"Tragically, we cannot say that this is true today. Scandal haunts that federal structure. The names and incidents that some are trying to burn into nothing but ghostly memories persist in coming to life."

"Telling people again and again that the federal government will take care of everything for them leads to the decline of personal and individual responsibility which is the base cause of the rise in crime and disregard for law and order," Goldwater said.

"Pitting class against class, or race against race to reap the votes of one faction or another sets the stage for malice, where only open hearts, understanding minds and willing hands will be fully effective."

Neither side is overly making an issue of civil rights but it looms large in the background as one of the major imponderables in the November results.

Much of Goldwater's hope to cut deeply into Democratic strength in the South rests squarely on his vote against the new civil rights bill. And some Democrats acknowledge concern about the so-called backlash vote outside the South from whites who fear or resent Negro advances.

LBJ Completes Birthday Party For Barbecue

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Fresh from one roaring birthday party, President Johnson steps into another Saturday night. It's not as big but it will be neighborly. Even Republicans are helping.

It will be a barbecue, of course.

Why is it always a barbecue? "It's easier on the housewives," explained Mrs. Tom Weinheimer in a burst of candor about the standard Texas party menu.

Four years ago there was a problem.

Johnson came home from the Democratic nominating convention with the vice-presidential spot on the ballot, but his neighbors had only three hours' notice.

Best they could scrape together on such short notice was a gathering in an airplane hangar.

Johnson returned Friday with all the marbles — the presidential nomination — and for this somewhat thinly populated section the blowout will be large, with 3,000 expected inside the Rodeo Arena.

Johnson marked his 56th birthday late Thursday night and early Friday before roaring crowds at Atlantic City, N.J. But that did not dim local enthusiasm for his belated celebration with the home folks.

Johnson's ranch is two miles from this town of 200 persons. The remainder of the 3,000 will come from the county, Gillespie, which hasn't voted Democratic since 1932, and surrounding counties. Johnson considers adjacent Blanco County his home for voting purposes. Blanco is Democratic.

Living Costs Hit New High During Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs — which rarely do anything but go up — registered the biggest rise in a year last month, nicking another three-tenths of a penny from the value of the consumer's dollar.

But such is the inexorable upward trend. The Labor Department said the increase gives no cause for alarm when viewed in the perspective of the past 10 years of price behavior.

The July increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent announced Friday brought the past year's rise in prices to 1.1 per cent, which a department spokesman said "does not appear startling."

Higher prices for virtually everything the typical family buys boosted the government's consumer price index to 108.3.

In dollars and cents, this means it took $10.83 in July to purchase goods that could be bought for $10 in 1957-59, the period on which the index base of 100 is figured.

Sidney A. Jaffe, deputy assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, described the July increase as "not particularly large," although it was the biggest hike since the price index went up five-tenths of 1 per cent in July, 1963.

In terms of purchasing power, today's dollar is worth a fraction more than 92 cents of the 1957-59 dollar.

Going even further back, the bureau said consumer's are now getting only about 75 cents worth compared with 1947-49.

And for consumers with even longer memories, the 1939 dollar of 100 cents is now a cut rate 45 cents or slightly less.

Last month, sharp price increases for meats, fruits and vegetables led the general rise in virtually all consumer costs except housing, which held steady, and clothing, which dropped two-tenths of 1 per cent because of midsummer sales.

The 2.4 per cent hike in meat prices did not reflect any increases due to producers withholding livestock from the market in an effort to get better prices.

If the producers' campaign does affect consumer prices, it will not show up in the government figures until September, Jaffe said.

She pushed the button and the pavement exploded, sending several paving stones in the air. Flames spurted from the ground, a baby was tossed from its carriage and Mrs. Hulse and four other persons were thrown to the ground.

"It was a pure coincidence," an Electricity Board spokesman said afterward. "An 11,000 volt cable short-circuited just at that moment. There is no connection between the lights and the main cable."

Mrs. Hulse, who suffered minor burns and shock, was not so sure.

"I'll never press one of those buttons again," she said.

BRISTOL, England (UPI) — When pedestrians want to cross a road in Bristol they push a button at a traffic light. Usually the light turns red and cars come to a halt.

When Mrs. Doris Hulse, 60, decided to cross the road it was different.

Parade Slated At Jonesville Festival Today

JONESVILLE (Special) — A gala parade will be one of the big attractions of the Louisiana Soybean Festival being held in Jonesville this weekend. The parade will get underway at 3 p.m. today according to Bob Parker and Cicero Smith, co-chairmen of the parade committee.

The parade will be led by the town marshal, Jack Taunton, in the police car. The Jonesville Block high school band, under direction of David Shively, will be next in line followed by the color guard of the Boyd-Mann Post 163, Jonesville, of the American Legion.

Official cars will be next in line with elected officials, beauty pageant judges and the Army Recruiter official car. Next will be the float of Miss Robbie Marie McMillin, reigning queen of the festival. Then will be the convertibles of six of the contestants. The visiting queen's float will be next followed by the remaining six contestants' convertibles.

Four floats will follow and will be competing for the prizes for the best float. Next will be Bill Atkins car. Another float will be that of Don Wiley and the Catahoula Playboys who will be performing while in motion.

The finale of the parade will be a host of brightly decorated bicycles of the younger folks. They will be competing for first, second and third prizes of $5, $3, and $1, respectively. All children are encouraged to dress up their bikes and get in the parade.

The lineup of the parade will begin at 2 p.m. and all participants must be in line by 2:30 p.m. on the street behind Block high school.

Conference Set For Fire Chiefs Here Tuesday

One-day regional conferences for fire chiefs will be conducted in five Louisiana cities next week by the Louisiana State University Firemen Training Staff.

In Monroe the conference will be held Tuesday, beginning at 9 a.m. in the Fire Department Training Center, Jackson Street at Forrest Avenue.

Purposes of the conferences are to acquaint the chiefs with the subjects taught and training techniques that are being used and to discuss fire training problems with leaders in the fire service.

The program is administered by the General Extension Division of the Louisiana State University under the direction of Dr. Lionel O. Pellegrin. Julian A. Martin is coordinator of the program.

Associates are Jimmy Chapman, George M. Martisen and Carol L. Herring.

Other conferences will be held in Shreveport Monday, Alexandria on Wednesday, Crowley and Baton Rouge on Thursday.

Durr To Assist Area Workshop

Prof. Kenneth Durr of the School of Business Administration at Northeast Louisiana State College will serve as consultant for a parish-wide workshop for DeSoto Parish high school teachers at Mansfield on Sept. 2-3, Dean Dwight D. Vines said here Friday.

Theme of the workshop is "Effective Teaching of Reading for Understanding."

DELMONICO BESIEGED

Park Avenue Cool To Beatlemania

NEW YORK (UPI) — Park Avenue became the boulevard of broken dreams for thousands of Beatlemania Friday.

Britain's Beatles, who need no further introduction, checked in to Delmonico's Hotel, at 59th and Park, and the place was besieged.

Traffic was disrupted and unsympathetic businessmen and residents tore their hair — many would rather have gotten their hands on the Beatles' ample manes.

"Get this howling crowd of little so-and-so's out of here," pleaded Kenneth Troy, co-manager of a stock exchange firm, as he surveyed the mobs of teenagers gathered on the streets outside the hotel.

About 150 police tried to block off pedestrian traffic but had little success in keeping the fans off Park Avenue, particularly from the mid-street traffic island.

The Beatles — George Harrison, Ringo Starr, Paul McCartney and John Lennon — were here for weekend concerts at Forest Hills Stadium. All 15,983 seats for Friday night's recital were sold out and black market ducats were commanding $50 each.

Refugees Flee Czechoslovakia In Heavy Truck

WALDHAUS, Germany (UPI) — Two young refugees escaped Friday from Czechoslovakia by crashing a heavy truck through three barriers along the Iron Curtain frontier. Red guards fired at the fleeing youths but missed.

West German police said the two men, aged 22 and 21, left their damaged truck about 10 yards inside the West German border and fled on foot the rest of the way. They went to the nearest police station where they asked for political asylum.

Bavarian police charged that Czech border guards fired at the truck when it was on West German soil. They said the guards also crossed the border and inspected the deserted truck.

The German police lodged a protest against the Czechs.

CAT WENT MOTORING

CALY CENTER, Kan. (AP) — E. W. Webb was befuddled when the sounds coming from under the hood of his car changed from a quiet purr to an eerie wail. Then his engine began acting odd.

Webb checked and found that a cat had crawled into the engine compartment. When things got too hot, the cat jerked loose several wires in his attempts to gain freedom.

Northeast State Staff Member Gets Promotion

Van C. McGraw, a member of the business administration faculty at Northeast Louisiana State College since 1959, has been promoted to assistant professor and chairman of the Department of Management and Marketing, it was announced Friday by Dean Dwight D. Vines of the School of Business Administration.

For the past two regular sessions, McGraw has been on academic leave for doctoral studies at Louisiana State University, where he was awarded coveted Ford Foundation Fellowships for advanced study in the areas of management, marketing, accounting, business education and economics.

Before joining the NLSC faculty, McGraw was for a time a management intern with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. He later served as instructor in business administration at Northwestern State College, Natchitoches.

McGraw holds the bachelor's degree in business administration and the master's degree in business education from Northwestern State, where he was valedictorian, member of the Senior Hall of Fame, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Omega Pi, and was a Distinguished Military Graduate.

He served as an accounting officer in the U. S. Army after graduation from college and is presently a captain in the U. S. Army Reserve.

A native of Natchitoches Parish, he is married to the former Miss Patricia DeBlieux of Natchitoches. They have three daughters: Melanie Ann, 4; Susan Elizabeth, 3, and Carolyn Joan, 2.

The McGraws returned to Monroe earlier this summer as he was a member of the summer faculty at NLSC. They reside at 604 Lakeshore Drive.

Bridal Party Festivities Entertain Engaged Couple On Eve Of Wedding

Following the rehearsal for their wedding today in Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church, Miss Pamela Cole O'Donnell and Claude Jarvis Thomas were honored at a dinner party given Friday night by the parents of the prospective bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Thomas, On Thursday, August 27, a family luncheon was given to entertain the engaged couple by Dr. and Mrs. Irving J. Wolff at their home on Park Avenue. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Donnell.

The Jade Room of the Paragon Supper Club was scene of the rehearsal dinner which concluded pre-nuptial courtesies for the betrothed couple.

Southern smilax was used down the center of the banquet tables, arranged in U-shape with the central decor featuring an arrangement of white stock and pompons in a silver epergne. Appropriate bridal place cards completed the setting.

For the occasion Miss O'Donnell was wearing a blouson sheath style dress of turquoise silk and a white orchid corsage. Following dinner the couple presented gifts to their bridal attendants.

Those attending included the Rev. Dave P. Dabria, the Rev. Earl Provenza, Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Richardson of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Dr. and Mrs. George O. Hoskins of McAllen, Texas, Mrs. K. W. Brown of New Orleans; Mrs. K. S. Terry of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Thomas of Tallulah; Miss Bunny Buckner, Miss Kay Sanchez, Miss Carolyn Parks of Delhi; Misses Sue and Mackie O'Donnell, Jesse Newcomer Jr., of Delhi; Miss Phyllis Middleton; Gary Gresham and J. Ricky McClendon, both of Rayville; Randy Thomas, Lake Providence; Johnny Sanchez, David O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gresham Jr., of Rayville; Mrs. Floise C. Stanhope and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bairnsfather of Girard.

FAMILY LUNCHEON

Miss O'Donnell and Claude Jarvis Thomas were feted at a family luncheon at the I. J. Wolff home on Park Avenue. For the event the bride-elect wore a floral print jersey dress with bone accessories.

Decorating the luncheon table were roses. Guests attending were the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. O'Donnell, Dr. and Mrs. George O. Hoskins, Mrs. K. W. Brown, of New Orleans, Mr. L. L. Richardson of Poplar Bluff, Missouri; Miss Tommye Sue O'Donnell, Mrs. K. S. Terry, of Shreveport, Mrs. Curtis Seamon, and the hosts.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Ironing And Sewing? Use Only One Table

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint for using a portable sewing machine:

Lower your adjustable ironing board so that it will be the correct height when you are sitting on a chair, and place your sewing machine on the wide end of the board.

This leaves you with space at the other end of the ironing board for all sorts of things. You can press all your seams on the smaller end of the board without even getting off that chair!

Kathryn M.

Now, why haven't I ever thought of that?

And after trying it, know what? The cushion on my ironing board even absorbed the noise.

Best yet, I only had one table to clean!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Recently I purchased a new mail box. After I removed my old, hanging, wall-type mail box, I painted it and filled it with no-longer-choice artificial flowers.

I hung it on the patio wall and it is very attractive.

Mrs. J. O. Pope

Dear Heloise:

My Man Friday... is a TV tray-table. It goes with me from room to room as I clean and dust.

Articles are transferred to the tray from table tops, shelves, and drawers to wherever they are to be cleaned, and then returned to where they belong.

Just try it once and you will find how convenient and helpful these trays are in many ways.

L. D.

Dear Heloise:

When I open canned fruit (peaches, apricots, pineapple or pears) I pour the heavy syrup into empty, clean cartons and put the cartons in my freezer.

This juice can be colored different colors with food coloring if desired, and it makes a nice block of ice to put in punch, tea, etc. It looks pretty in a large punch bowl and children enjoy it.

The best part is that your punch doesn't get watery from melted ice.

Mary W. Allen

And have you ever heard of using leftover coffee this way?

Sure makes for a good glass of iced coffee. It won't dilute the coffee and make it taste watery.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

With regard to the lady who wrote about turning an almost empty bottle of catsup upside down on top of another bottle to salvage the last bit of catsup... I have gone one step further.

I used to balance one bottle on top of the other but now I save a cardboard roll from toilet tissue and place it over the neck of the bottle which I want the catsup to go into, and insert the top of the almost-empty bottle in the upper end of the roll.

This keeps the necks of both bottles exactly in line and no spills or drips.

Mrs. James Shields.

Oh, Mrs. Shields, this is about the trickiest idea ever. It also works on chili sauce bottles. It is absolutely amazing that this little cardboard roll holds the necks of the two bottles in place perfectly.

Also, every iota of sauce came out, leaving the top bottle slick and clean as a whistle.

Prenuptial Party Series Given To Fete Couple

The wedding this evening of Miss Charlotte Ann Frantom and James Richard Futch will climax many prenuptial courtesies extended the couple. The marriage will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock at First Baptist Church in West Monroe. Parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Frantom and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Futch.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Futch entertained last night with a dinner party complimentary to the son and Miss Frantom following the rehearsal for their wedding.

Scene of the party was Highland Park Country Club, where the bride's table held a tall arrangement of yellow gladioli and bronze chrysanthemums, flanked by three-branched candelabra. Other tables held single yellow tapers and smaller arrangements of flowers.

The honorees chose this occasion to present gifts to each other and to their attendants.

The bride-elect wore for her party a white lace sheath dress and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Frantom, Dr. and Mrs. Clifton Tennison, Miss Carol Tennison, Miss Sandy Frantom, Miss Sondra Knight, Miss Glenda Gates, Miss Patsy Knox, Miss Dianne Futch, Mike Shepherd, Bobby Brice, Lonnie Sherrard, Bobby Jones, Randy Thomisee, Raymond Winn, Ronnie Brothers, Miss Teresa Frantom, Miss Mary Sue Frantom, Stephen John Dupuy, Debbie Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Futch, Mrs. J. W. Nichols, Mrs. L. P. Dupuy, Mrs. Ed Basta, Mrs. V. S. Allen, Miriam Basta, Mrs. B. G. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Frantom, Harry Bullard and Earl Jones.

BREAKFAST

Thursday's compliment to Miss Frantom was a breakfast, given by Mrs. N. H. Knox and her daughter, Miss Patsy Knox.

Pink spider chrysanthemums, sweet peas, orchids and green ivy filled a crystal bowl centered with a crystal glass tube filled with white eggs. Down the center of the white-covered table were love birds on pink streamers.

Following breakfast the guests made rice bags.

Sharing the occasion with the honoree and hostesses were Miss Sondra Knight, Miss Glenda Gates, Miss Paula Ray, Mrs. Jean Newton, Mrs. J. V. Futch and Mrs. D. M. Frantom.

BARBEQUE

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Frantom honored the bridal party with an informal barbecue supper last week. The event took place in the back garden of the Frantom home.

Guests were the engaged couple, Miss Sandy Frantom, Miss Dianne Futch, Miss Glenda Gates, Miss Teresa Frantom, Miss Mary Sue Shepherd, Charles Van Zile, Randy Thomisee, Raymond Winn and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Futch.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding are Mrs. V. S. Allen of Clute, Texas; Mrs. Ed Basta and Miriam of Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Dean, Bobby and Debbie of Alexandria; Mrs. Emory Woodward of Georgetown; Mr. and Mrs. L.

Hale-Oxford Nuptials Read In Sterlington

Vows uniting Miss Belinda Louise Oxford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Louis Oxford, Sterlington and William Shelby Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hale of Madisonville, Kentucky, were solemnized Saturday, August 15 in the First Baptist Church, Sterlington. Rev. Loy E. Baird, assisted by Rev. Ray Raddin performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m.

Twin baskets of white gladioli and four branched candelabra holding white tapers formed a background setting. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Ledger, organist and Mrs. Jackie Moore, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of beau de soie with bodice overlaid by Chantilly lace. A pearl crown held her veil of illusion and she carried a lace covered white Bible, crested with a white orchid bouquet.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Mrs. Dwayne Kinnison as matron of honor and Miss Sharon Oxford, matron of honor. They wore blue sheath gowns with headaddresses of two white roses atop a veil of illusion. Bridesmaids were Miss June Welch and Miss Vinita English, who wore blue full skirted frocks and identical headpieces. Each carried a single red rose.

Paula Austin and Louann Hamilton served as flower girls and candelighters were Misses Nelda English and Charlotte Welch.

Dwayne Kinnison attended the groom as best man and ushers were Mike Powell and Larry Pace.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a beige sheath with blue hat and matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed in the social hall of the church where the bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth held a central arrangement of white tapers in crystal candelholders. Ivy encircled the crystal punch bowl and the tiered wedding cake at either end of the table.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1009 North 3rd in Monroe. For travel the bride wore a blue lace sheath with matching accessories and a white orchid. The bride graduated from Sterlington high school and Mr. Hale, who received his education in Kentucky, was recently discharged from the navy and is employed in Shreveport.

DEAR ABBY

Either Report Animals Or Muzzle Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: It is badthink of a daughter who tells enough to live in a neighborhood where there are several dogs and cats, but my husband is just as bad. When one of these dogs starts to bark, my husband barks back and sets up a chain of barking that disturbs the whole block. If a cat meows, my husband meows back at them, too. Then the dogs start up and you never heard such a racket. My husband thinks he is being funny, but last night I thought the top of my head was going to explode. He is just like a big kid. He says, "Well THEY started it." Have you got any advice for me?

HEAD COMING OFF

DEAR HEAD: If the dogs bark at night, report their owners to your police department. If they bark during the day, report them to the S.P.C.A. If they still bark, muzzle your husband.

DEAR ABBY: What do you

CAST-ASIDE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Move out quietly, quickly and without questions. Perhaps if you were to talk to your daughter's doctor you would gain a better understanding of her problem. Since your "whole life" was sacrificed for your daughter, sacrifice a little more and be patient.

GOP, DEMO DIFFERENCES

Goldwater, LBJ Outline Issues To Start Race

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The presidential election campaigns are barely under way but already the two candidates have sketched the outlines of their messages to the voter.

For President Johnson, if his speech Thursday night accepting the Democratic nomination was a guide, the major issues will be peace, prosperity, programs for the needy and responsibility in control of nuclear weapons.

For Republican nominee Barry Goldwater the issues, as outlined to The Associated Press by his press secretary Pal F. Wagner, will be defense, foreign policy, crime and morality, and corruption in government.

Goldwater has already touched on them in major speeches in Cleveland, Ohio, and Springfield, Ill., since his nomination.

Johnson's acceptance speech said the Democratic candidates would run "on our record and by our platform."

That record includes, Johnson said, "the largest and longest period of peacetime prosperity in our history."

He said at another point: "Men of both parties have built a solid foundation for our present prosperity. Too many have worked too long and too hard to see this threatened now by policies which promise to undo all that we have done together over all these years."

"But prosperity for most has not brought prosperity to all," Johnson said. "Those who have received the bounty of this land — who sit secure in affluence and safe in power — must now turn from the needs of their neighbors. Our party and our United States has built the mightiest military machine of all time but men make peace."

"The true courage of this nuclear age lies in the quest for peace."

"There is no place in today's world for weakness. But there is also no place in today's world for recklessness. We cannot act rashly with the nuclear weapons that could destroy us all. The only course is to press with all our strength and will to make sure that these weapons are never really used at all."

Goldwater's main thrust on the foreign policy so far has been aimed at U.S. conduct of the war in Viet Nam and claims that the administration is too willing to negotiate with Communists.

In his Cleveland speech, Goldwater said the nation's leaders "are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament. Their eyes are turned away from the real world and are fixed in a hypnotic stare upon a dream world."

On defense, Goldwater said in Cleveland that "peace, in a troubled world, can never be kept by the weak. Peace is the reward of strength."

And in Springfield he declared: "This nation has gone to war under the leadership of only one party. Only under administrations such as this one have we become so weak that aggressors have been tempted to plunge the world into war."

The issue of corruption in government was put this way in his Springfield speech:

"There is a mood of easy morals and uneasy ethics that is an aching truth in our land. There should be no skeletons in the closets of any part of the federal structure and that goes for the smallest agency right up to the White House itself."

"Tragically, we cannot say that this is true today. Scandal haunts that federal structure. The names and incidents that some are trying to burn into nothing but ghostly memories persist in coming to life."

"Telling people again and again that the federal government will take care of everything for them leads to the decline of personal and individual responsibility which is the base cause of the rise in crime and disregard for law and order," Goldwater said.

"Pitting class against class, or race against race to reap the votes of one faction or another sets the stage for malice, where only open hearts, understanding minds and willing hands will be fully effective."

Neither side is overly making an issue of civil rights but it looms large in the background as one of the major imponderables in the November results.

Much of Goldwater's hope to cut deeply into Democratic strength in the South rests squarely on his vote against the new civil rights bill. And some Democrats acknowledge concern about the so-called back-lash vote outside the South from whites who fear or resent Negro advances.

LBJ Completes Birthday Party For Barbecue

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Fresh from one roaring birthday party, President Johnson steps into another Saturday night. It's not as big but it will be neighborly. Even Republicans are helping.

It will be a barbecue, of course.

Why is it always a barbecue? "It's easier on the housewives," explained Mrs. Tom Weinheimer in a burst of candor about the standard Texas party menu.

Four years ago there was a problem.

Johnson came home from the Democratic nominating convention with the vice-presidential spot on the ballot, but his neighbors had only three hours' notice.

Best they could scrape together on such short notice was a gathering in an airplane hangar.

Johnson returned Friday with all the marbles — the presidential nomination — and for this somewhat thinly populated section the blowout will be large, with 3,000 expected inside the Rodeo Arena.

Johnson marked his 56th birthday late Thursday night and early Friday before roaring crowds at Atlantic City, N.J. But that did not dim local enthusiasm for his belated celebration with the home folks.

Johnson's ranch is two miles from this town of 200 persons. The remainder of the 3,000 will come from the county, Gillespie, which hasn't voted Democratic since 1932, and surrounding counties. Johnson considers adjacent Blanco County his home for voting purposes. Blanco is Democratic.

Parker Honored At Retirement Party At Benoit Living Costs Hit New High During Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs — which rarely do anything but go up — registered the biggest rise in a year last month, nicking another three-tenths of a penny from the value of the consumer's dollar.

But such is the inexorable upward trend. The Labor Department said the increase gives no cause for alarm when viewed in the perspective of the past 10 years of price behavior.

The July increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent announced Friday brought the past year's rise in prices to 1.1 per cent, which a department spokesman said "does not appear startling."

Higher prices for virtually everything the typical family buys boosted the government's consumer price index to 108.3.

In dollars and cents, this means it took $10.83 in July to purchase goods that could be bought for $10 in 1957-59, the period on which the index base of 100 is figured.

Sidney A. Jaffe, deputy assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, described the July increase as "not particularly large," although it was the biggest hike since the price index went up five-tenths of 1 per cent in July, 1963.

In terms of purchasing power, today's dollar is worth a fraction more than 92 cents of the 1957-59 dollar.

Going even further back, the bureau said consumer's are now getting only about 75 cents worth compared with 1947-49.

And for consumers with even longer memories, the 1939 dollar of 100 cents is now a cut rate 45 cents or slightly less.

Last month, sharp price increases for meats, fruits and vegetables led the general rise in virtually all consumer costs except housing, which held steady, and clothing, which dropped two-tenths of 1 per cent because of midsummer sales.

The 2.4 per cent hike in meat prices did not reflect any increases due to producers with holding livestock from the market in an effort to get better prices.

If the producers' campaign does affect consumer prices, it will not show up in the government figures until September, Jaffe said.

Over-all food prices climbed nine-tenths of 1 per cent, transportation and medical care each rose two-tenths of 1 per cent.

While prices for all consumer items show a general rise over the years, the cost of services has been the sharpest.

Services measured by the bureau in its price survey include medical care, many types of repair work, public transportation, public utilities, laundry, some recreational services, domestic help and others.

Parade Slated At Jonesville Festival Today

JONESVILLE (Special) — A gala parade will be one of the big attractions of the Louisiana Soybean Festival being held in Jonesville this weekend. The parade will get underway at 3 p.m. today according to Bob Parker and Cicero Smith, co-chairmen of the parade committee.

The parade will be led by the town marshal, Jack Taunton, in the police car. The Jonesville Block high school band, under direction of David Shively, will be next in line followed by the color guard of the Boyd-Mann Post 163, Jonesville, of the American Legion.

Official cars will be next in line with elected officials, beauty pageant judges and the Army Recruiter official car. Next will be the float of Miss Robbie Marie McMillin, reigning queen of the festival. Then will be the convertibles of six of the contestants. The visiting queen's float will be next followed by the remaining six contestants' convertibles.

Four floats will follow and will be competing for the prizes for the best float. Next will be Bill Atkins car. Another float will be that of Don Wiley and the Catatoula Playboys who will be performing while in motion.

The finale of the parade will be a host of brightly decorated bicycles of the younger folks. They will be competing for first, second and third prizes of $5, $3, and $1, respectively. All children are encouraged to dress up their bikes and get in the parade.

The lineup of the parade will begin at 2 p.m. and all participants must be in line by 2:30 p.m. on the street behind Block high school.

Conference Set For Fire Chiefs Here Tuesday

One-day regional conferences for fire chiefs will be conducted in five Louisiana cities next week by the Louisiana State University Firemen Training Staff.

In Monroe the conference will be held Tuesday, beginning at 9 a.m. in the Fire Department Training Center, Jackson Street at Forrest Avenue.

Purposes of the conferences are to acquaint the chiefs with the subjects taught and training techniques that are being used and to discuss fire training problems with leaders in the fire service.

The program is administered by the General Extension Division of the Louisiana State University under the direction of Dr. Lionel O. Pellegrin. Julian A. Martin is coordinator of the program.

Associates are Jimmy Chapman, George M. Martisen and Carol L. Herring.

Other conferences will be held in Shreveport Monday, Alexandria on Wednesday, Crowley and Baton Rouge on Thursday.

Durr To Assist Area Workshop

Prof. Kenneth Durr of the School of Business Administration at Northeast Louisiana State College will serve as consultant for a parish-wide workshop for DeSoto Parish high school teachers at Mansfield on Sept. 23, Dean Dwight D. Vines said here Friday.

Theme of the workshop is "Effective Teaching of Reading for Understanding."

DELMONICO BESIEGED

Park Avenue Cool To Beatlemaniacs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Park Avenue became the boulevard of broken dreams for thousands of Beatlemaniacs Friday.

Britain's Beatles, who need no further introduction, checked in at Delmonico's Hotel, at 59th and Park, and the place was besieged.

Traffic was disrupted and unsympathetic businessmen and residents tore their hair — many would rather have gotten their hands on the Beatles' ample manes.

"Get this howling crowd of little so-and-so's out of here," pleaded Kenneth Troy, co-manager of a stock exchange firm, as he surveyed the mobs of teenagers gathered on the streets outside the hotel.

About 150 police tried to block off pedestrian traffic but had little success in keeping the fans off Park Avenue, particularly from the mid-street traffic island.

The Beatles — George Harrison, Ringo Starr, Paul McCartney and John Lennon — were here for weekend concerts at Forest Hills Stadium. All 15,983 seats for Friday night's recital were sold out and black market dealers were commanding $50 each.

The Beatles were believed stashed in a 7th floor suite at Delmonico's, which invited them to use the facilities. During the quartet's last trip here they stayed at the Plaza, whose management begged off this time.

Young girls shrieked when long-haired figures appeared momentarily in upstairs windows of the hotel. But they were not the Britons — just hotel patrons who donned wigs to tease the teen-agers assembled on the streets below.

Refugees Flee Czechoslovakia In Heavy Truck

WAIIDHAUS, Germany (UPI) — Two young refugees escaped Friday from Czechoslovakia by crashing a heavy truck through three barriers along the Iron Curtain frontier. Red guards fired at the fleeing youths but missed.

West German police said the two men, aged 22 and 21, left their damaged truck about 10 yards inside the West German border and fled on foot the rest of the way. They went to the nearest police station where they asked for political asylum.

Bavarian police charged that Czech border guards fired at the truck when it was on West German soil. They said the guards also crossed the border and inspected the deserted truck.

The German police lodged a protest against the Czechs.

CAT WENT MOTORING

CALY CENTER, Kan. (AP) — E. W. Webb was befuddled when the sounds coming from under the hood of his car changed from a quiet purr to an eerie wail. Then his engine began acting odd.

Webb checked and found that a cat had crawled into the engine compartment. When things got too hot, the cat jerked loose several wires in his attempts to gain freedom.

Northeast State Staff Member Gets Promotion

Van C. McGraw, a member of the business administration faculty at Northeast Louisiana State College since 1959, has been promoted to assistant professor and chairman of the Department of Management and Marketing. It was announced Friday by Dean Dwight D. Vines of the School of Business Administration.

For the past two regular sessions, McGraw has been on academic leave for doctoral studies at Louisiana State University, where he was awarded coveted Ford Foundation Fellowships for advanced study in the areas of management, marketing, accounting, business education and economics.

Before joining the NLSC faculty, McGraw was for a time a management intern with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. He later served as instructor in business administration at Northwestern State College, Natchitoches.

McGraw holds the bachelor's degree in business administration and the master's degree in business education from Northwestern State, where he was valedictorian, member of the Senior Hall of Fame, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Omega Pi, and was a Distinguished Military Graduate.

He served as an accounting officer in the U. S. Army after graduation from college and is presently a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve.

A native of Natchitoches Parish, he is married to the former Miss Patricia DeBlieux of Natchitoches. They have three daughters: Melanie Ann, 4; Susan Elizabeth, 3, and Carolyn Joan, 2.

The McGraws returned to Monroe earlier this summer as he was a member of the summer faculty at NLSC. They reside at 604 Lakeshore Drive.

BRITISH WAGE HIKE

LONDON (AP) — The Ministry of Labor reports that the average weekly wage of male manual workers in Britain reached $49.34 in April. This represented a rise of $2.45 in six months.

HALF-MILE UNDERGROUND

Tired Coal Miners Maintaining Strike

KERESLEY, England (AP) — Two desperately tired coal miners who began a sit-down strike half-a-mile underground last Monday are shaken awake every 15 minutes by mine officials complying with an ancient British law.

The two men, Graham Jones, 43, and Jim Pearce, 33, refused a job switch two weeks ago, company officials say, and for-

Houston Cases

Of Encephalitis

Hit 341 Friday

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Reported cases of suspected encephalitis in Houston in the past eight weeks jumped to 341 Friday as officials studied the possibility of a countywide mosquito control district.

Health officials said 35 of the reported cases are known to have been caused by the disease, also known as sleeping sickness.

Authorities said the illness has caused three deaths in the city and is suspected of killing 13 others.

This city of more than a million residents has been fighting mosquitoes since the disease outbreak. Health officials say the bite of the female Culex mosquito causes the illness in humans.

Schools and playgrounds which will be filled with children next week were the target of insecticide spraying machines Friday.

Some 40 cases of encephalitis have been reported in other Texas areas—along the Gulf of Mexico and in the South Plains area. State health officials said the strain discovered in the South Plains is carried by a different mosquito than the Culex.

A case at Abilene was diagnosed as encephalitis but doctors said it was not the type caused by a mosquito bite.

Houston and Harris County officials were studying a proposal for a mosquito control district. Such a district could levy taxes to fight mosquitoes.

feited a $6 bonus for that week. The men say they won't come up until they get the bonus.

Dr. McGregor Edwards, coal board medical officer, has examined the men daily. He said they were in a state of exhaustion Friday night but determined to continue their protest through the weekend.

Food and drink is sent down to the men every four hours by the National Coal Board, which runs Britain's nationalized coal mines.

Both the board and the union say the miners are not entitled to the bonus they demand.

Mine officials continued periodic visits to keep the men awake in order to comply with Britain's laws on safety in mines.

A coal board spokesman explained the rule against sleeping in the pits was part of the Coal Mines Act passed at the beginning of the century.

Originally the rule was designed to prevent exploitation of miners by private companies. But it also applies to Jones and Pearce. The spokesman commented, "It's a bit inhuman, but we have to obey the law."

NOT ROMANTIC, THESE VOLUNTEERS

TORONTO (AP) — Practical individuals, rough enough to take knocks and shocks, are the demands of the Canadian University Service Overseas.

Those accepted for posting overseas, graduates of universities or schools of higher learning, doctors, teachers or agriculturalists, must sign up for two years for work in Africa, India or the West Indies.

Applicants are tested on their motives, maturity, initiative, ability and resourcefulness. Half are turned away.

Once accepted, they receive a month's summer briefing. How to prepare for what is termed the "culture shock" is stressed.

Some 150 young men and women leave Canada in September to begin their tours of duty overseas. Another 100 are already working in the three areas.

Soviets Print Article About U.S. Politics

MOSCOW (AP) — The directors of Tass published an article Friday declaring the United States was at a "peculiar political crossroads" where it could choose the path either to military adventure or peace.

Without mentioning names, Dmitri Goryunov identified those pushing for war as "the ultras who have seized control of the Republican party and those forces in the leadership of the Democratic party which would like to outdo the Republicans in drumming up war hysteria."

He claimed civil rights workers, trade unionists and an unnamed "broad Democratic movement" were for peace.

"All those who have faith in the common sense of the American people," he wrote, "hope the United States will chose the second path."

The same article, which appeared in the weekly Life Abroad, denounced the Chinese Communists for trying to dominate the world Communist movement for nationalistic reasons and for failing to support the peaceful ending of the Cuban crisis in 1962.

Mrs. Smith was awarded a Pulitzer Prize earlier this year for her editorials, chiefly in the weekly newspaper which she publishes at Lexington, 70 miles north of here. Her liberal editorials have been criticized often by segregationists.

Reached at Atlantic City, where she was attending the Democratic National Convention she said she assumed the editorial policies on the racial issue. "There isn't any other assumption, I can make," she said.

Mrs. Smith's landlord, Richard Kimbrough, estimated the damage at $1,500.

The early morning blast in the home of Willie J. Dillon at McComb did no damage.

Mrs. Dillon said she, her husband and their two children were asleep at the time. Mrs. Dillon was one of 40 Negroes who took a voter registration test Aug. 17. Her two children attended a "freedom school" operated by civil rights groups this summer.

The Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee said the Pike County sheriff's office arrested Dillon shortly after the blast on a charge "of operating a garage without a license."

The explosion at the Dillon home was the fifth such blast in the racially tense McComb area within recent weeks.

Until last week, the space agency believed there was a better than 50 per cent chance of conducting the unmanned launching in October and the manned shot in December.

But on Aug. 17 a series of lightning bolts struck near the Titan 2 launching pad. Induction currents caused electrical damage to the rocket and ground support equipment.

The Manned Spacecraft Center reported there would be a delay of at least three weeks in the unmanned shot because of the lightning. A few officials believed, however, that Grissom and Young still could squeeze their trip in by Christmas.

Experts were still trying to assess the electrical damage Thursday when Cleo aimed her blustery winds at Cape Kennedy.

A decision was made to remove the Titan 2 from the launch pad for safe keeping in a hangar.

A team took down the second stage, but before it could be moved the first stage, increasing winds made it a risky business.

So the stage was lashed to the pad as were five other space rockets on Cape stands.

Cleo turned her full force away from the Cape, but raked it with gale winds with gusts up to 65 miles an hour. No harm was done to the rockets.

The removal of the Titan 2 second stage means an undetermined additional delay. It will have to be rejoined with the first stage and joint checkouts restarted.

Posse Combs Delta Looking For Escapees

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—A posse combed this Delta area Friday for two convict escapees after gunning down two others in a cottonfield shootout.

The posse cornered and killed Edwin Perryman, 31, of Columbus, Ga., and John Armstrong, 35, of Noxubee County in an early morning exchange of gunfire Friday.

Albert Lepard of Kosciusko and Edward Walker of Ocala, Fla., however, were still armed and at large late Friday.

Lepard made this escape his fourth since being sent to the state penal farm for the robbery-slaying of his elderly aunt.

The four bolted a work gang late Thursday by overthrowing convict guard and taking his 30-caliber rifle.

Superintendent C. C. Breazeale said the quartet fled to the home of a prison employee and robbed him of his automobile and weapons, but were unable to get ammunition.

Dogs led the posse to two of the convicts early Friday as they hid in blooming cotton stalks near a plantation on the outskirts of Clarksdale.

Jackson Mayor Offers Reward For Bomb Clues

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mayor Allen Thompson offered a $1,000 reward Friday for clues in the bombing of a weekly newspaper office here used by Pulitzer Prize winner Hazel Brannon Smith.

The blast ripped through the offices of the Northside Reporter Thursday. Several hours later an explosion shook the McComb home of a Negro family active in civil rights work.

There were no injuries in either blast. Damages were slight. Police were joined by FBI agents in investigating both incidents, which appeared to be unrelated. McComb is a railroad center 78 miles south of here.

"This sort of thing and any other violations of the law in Jackson will not be tolerated," Thompson said in announcing the reward offer.

Police said a bomb apparently was hurled through a rear window of the Northside Reporter building. It was unoccupied at the time.

Mrs. Smith was awarded a Pulitzer Prize earlier this year for her editorials, chiefly in the weekly newspaper which she publishes at Lexington, 70 miles north of here. Her liberal editorials have been criticized often by segregationists.

DEAF EX-CONVICT

Law Student Admits Crime Of Long Ago

PEARSALL, Tex. (UPI)—A 61-year-old deaf ex-convict with a penchant for studying law books told the Frio County sheriff Friday he murdered the wife of a prominent Salt Lake City physician 34 years ago.

Texas and Utah authorities were working together to determine whether the man, Will Sadler, was telling the truth.

The slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Dexter Mooremeister on Feb. 21, 1930 near Taylorville, Utah was never solved. In fact, all the investigating officers in the case are now dead as is Dr. Frank Mooremeister, husband of the slain woman.

Newspaper accounts of the slaying said the killer "ground his pretty victim into a gravel road" with her own car.

Frio County Sheriff Willie Alley said Sadler "might just be wanting some attention."

However, Alley said Sadler could be telling the truth. "He's in bad health," Alley said. "He's got stomach trouble and can't hear a thing. He could have gotten down in the back to town."

Alley talked by phone with Utah authorities today. He said they told him three other persons had confessed to the crime in the last 34 years and they wanted to be careful of Sadler's testimony.

"They told me to get everything down in writing and have him sign it," Alley said. "I'll probably do that tomorrow."

The murder case was reopened Thursday when police in Salt Lake City received a letter written by Martin G. Gutierrez, who was in the same jail cell with Sadler. Gutierrez, jailed on an aggravated assault charge, wrote the police after Sadler told him he committed the Mooremeister murder.

Of those listed during the past week, 212 were from Texas and the remainder were scattered throughout the country.

In Texas, two outbreaks are occurring—one at Houston and the other in the South Plains area of Hale, Lubbock and Castro counties.

St. Louis encephalitis virus infection has been noted in Florida, Illinois and Arizona.

As of Aug. 25 a total of 215 cases, including 22 deaths, was reported in Houston. Of these, 207 were suspect cases; serologic identification of the St. Louis encephalitis virus infection was made in eight cases.

The 22 deaths constitute a 10 per cent case fatality rate, the report noted.

The report noted these facts in connection with the Houston outbreak:

Of the 215 cases, 96 are males, 78 females; the sex is not reported in 41 cases.

In the 162 cases where the race has been reported, 98 involved whites and 64 non-whites.

Approximately two-thirds of the cases were among persons over 20.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced the firing underground Friday of a low-yield nuclear test shot at its Nevada testing grounds.

It was the 14th weapons related test announced by the United States this year and had an explosive equivalent of under 20,000 tons of TNT.

The test was the 26th U.S. firing since the ban on nuclear shots in the atmosphere became effective Aug. 5, 1963.

ATLANTA Reports Numerous Cases Of Encephalitis

ATLANTA (AP)—There were 248 cases of primary encephalitis reported for the week which ended Aug. 22, the communicable disease center of the Public Health Service reported Friday.

The CDC said so far this year 1,458 cases of the disease have been reported.

Of those listed during the past week, 212 were from Texas and the remainder were scattered throughout the country.

In Texas, two outbreaks are occurring—one at Houston and the other in the South Plains area of Hale, Lubbock and Castro counties.

Gracie Allen Dies After Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The great comedy team of Burns and Allen has ended with the death by heart attack of Gracie Allen, whose nitwit fantasies charmed two generations of Americans. She was 58.

The comedienne died at 11:15 Thursday night at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, after suffering a heart attack about 10 p.m. at her Beverly Hills home. George Burns, her partner in show business for 34 years and in marriage for 38, rode with her in an ambulance to the hospital.

"It's all right, honey," he told her repeatedly. "You'll be okay."

Mrs. Burns was taken to a private room where she died with her husband still at her side. She had experienced mild heart attacks in the past, but appeared in good health until last evening.

Her death brought a close to one of show business' closest partnerships in vaudeville, radio, movies and television. They were seldom separated during their marriage and each was vocal in admiration for the other.

"My favorite person is George," she once said. "My life, my career, everything is in his hands."

"She made me a success after years and years of failure," George has remarked.

Their teaming began in 1922, when he was coming to the end of another in a long line of unsuccessful partnerships in vaudeville.

Born Nathan Birnbaum in New York in 1896, he had been stage struck since boyhood, but could never find the formula to break out of the small time.

He decided to try a new act with a San Francisco-born colleen he met in New Jersey. She was Grace Ethel Cecile Rosalie Allen, daughter of a song and dance man, graduate of a dance act with her three sisters, and a part-time secretary.

George wrote the new act with himself as comedian, but it was Gracie's wide-eyed brand of nonsense that got the laughs. He immediately switched to straight man, the position he occupied until Gracie retired in 1958.

Burns and Allen didn't flourish until after their marriage on Jan. 7, 1926, in Cleveland. Then they began playing the bigger circuits until they reached the vaudeville valhalla, the New York Palace. Their debut in radio was a natural eventuality, then movies, then television.

They could have continued their television series except for one matter: Gracie wanted to quit.

She once explained her dual life: "The onstage Gracie may look poised and steady but the real Gracie is shy, a little self-conscious, and before every performance of my life, panicky."

Gracie quit six years ago — two adopted children, Sandra and Ronnie — grandmother and wife. She relished George's new success as a single. Along with their best friend, Jack Benny, she was George's greatest audience.

Funeral services are planned for 3 p.m. Monday in the Church of the Reconciliation at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Sen. Smathers Told To Second Humphrey's Bid

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said Friday a presidential spokesman told him he had to second the nomination of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for the vice presidency.

At a news conference, Smathers spent an hour explaining how he got into the position of endorsing Humphrey.

Smathers made clear he did not want the role.

"I really like Hubert," he said, "but I know the difficulty of carrying that load in the South."

Smathers said he received a telephone call Wednesday afternoon from President Johnson, who discussed some projects of interest to Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., and "talked generally about campaigning in Florida."

"I had been, frankly, a little apprehensive that I would be asked to nominate Hubert," Smathers said. But he said the President did not mention it.

Shortly afterward, Smathers said, he got a call from presidential spokesman Bill D. Moyers, who asked the senator to second Humphrey's nomination.

"I said, 'Bill, that's really putting it to me.' He said I had to, so I told him okay," Smathers related.

Moyers was not available for comment Friday. He was reported by the White House to be en route to Texas with the President.

Smathers asked newsmen to repeat his statement of Wednesday night about Humphrey — that the Minnesotan should "understand that there are problems that affect the various regions of the country in different ways; that what reacts well in the North may not in the same manner have the same result in the South."
